Hello,

The moderator of the ARESDistrict7 group has changed the group's name.
This means that both the group's email address and the group home page location have changed.

The group email address:
TN_ARESDistrict7@yahoogroups.com

The group home page location:
http://groups.yahoo.com/group/TN_ARESDistrict7

If you have links which point to this group or an address book entry

20. Just an idea for once a month

Date: 2006-05-17 21:35:32 UTC
From: Charles Satterfield
Topic: 20 Message: 20

How does everyone feel about looking into an TN ARES District 7 linked repeater net once a month?
We may be able to link several repeaters for a net if the owners will allow it. I have the 442.550 repeater on Waucheesi Mtn set up to do that through a crossband radio. We do it each week on the 147.315/442.550 net, and it works well.

Just an idea to think about.

Yep, I agree Charlie. It is the best overall for the local area especially. About the only thing about that is bad is that it can't see what is on top of Signal Mtn well since that is where the radar itself is. Most storms seem to either weaken or strengthen a little when they get to Signal Mtn. I usually flip back and forth between ch3's radar and NWS's Hytop radar...73...Rusty Greetings Charles !

Here is what I use. click on NEXRAD , click on hytop or MRX , click animate , click storm tracks , then you can click and drag your mouse to make a box to zoom in as far as you want to get. Also when you click on storm tracks , you will see that the NWS gives each storm cell an ID number. If you scroll down below the map you will see a list of cells and info on each one. Check it out and welcome aboard.

I have an image for the coker creek doppler indicated tornado. I dont believe there was a touchdown. I don't know how to post it here but will fiqure it out.

Charlie , I think it is a great ideal ! Lets get some discussion going here. The 442.250 wd4des would be available for a net and so would the 442.925. Take the ideal and run with it! How about thursday nights at 9pm ? The net would need to cover some training aspects of ARES without being too formal.

Charles Satterfield <chsatterfield@...> wrote: v\:* {behavior:url (#default#vml);} v\:* { BEHAVIOR: url (#default#vml) } How does everyone feel about looking into an TN ARES District 7 linked repeater net once a month?
We may be able to link several repeaters for a net if the owners will allow it. I have the 442.550 repeater on Waucheesi Mtn set up to do that through a crossband radio. We do it each week on the 147.315/442.550 net, and it works well.

Just an idea to think about.

The 442.250 would be a great option. What are the counties to the north that would need to be covered? I can work on finding a 2 meter repeater to cross-band link to that would cover the entire area from Sweetwater. I like the way that Bradley County does their nets, with checkins, discussions, and news. Great way of doing a net. Thursdays at 9PM would be a good time. Do we want to do it every week?? Probably would be best to keep interest up.

Hey Charles,
I was thinking in the terms of geography...If someone could not get into the 442.250, say where they were located behind a ridge or mountain, but could get into one closer to the area north or south for that fact....We have 2 members here in Hamilton Co. that live on the back side of Raccoon Mtn. in Lookout Valley and they have a hard time hitting some of the local repeaters from there. Its just a thought. Have a great week.

Hey Guys,

If everyone would get a 50-100 watt 2 meter SSB radio and a 10 or 12 element 2 meter beam horizontally polarized up about 40' or so, we could all talk out to 200 to 250 miles any time we wanted to. Ground wave coverage. Simplex if you will. No tones, no intermod, no links, no REPEATERS! Just 24 hours a day coverage for regular or emergency communications. And if you are fortunate enough to live on a hill, you can make it 300 miles +. I regularly talk to guys from Bristol, Tn. to Memphis, Tn. on 144 SSB. Single Side Band is far superior than FM. What about mobile you say? Well, I regularly listen to a guy in Knoxville mobile on 2 SSB going to work in the mornings, Q5 ! Rusty and I worked a guy mobile on 2 SSB on a bridge in Charleston, S. Car. one night.... ground wave! No special enhancement. Just a well equipted mobile. You can count on 100 miles + or - a little to be normal. What about mobile to mobile? Well I haven't tryed that very much. But I would suspect 50 miles to be easily possible. I'm sure a rubber duck couldn't work a rubber duck across town without a repeater. Well, a big town that is.

Hey Charles,
I was thinking in the terms of geography...If someone could not get into the 442.250, say where they were located behind a ridge or mountain, but could get into one closer to the area north or south for that fact....We have 2 members here in Hamilton Co. that live on the back side of Raccoon Mtn. in Lookout Valley and they have a hard time hitting some of the local repeaters from there. Its just a thought. Have a great week.

I think the chances of more folks having 10 meter gear would be greater. We could do a repeater net on 442.250 with something else linked into Chatt. for those fringe area folks and then have the second half of the net on 10 meters. whay do you think?

"David M. Benton" <wb4jgg@...> wrote: Hey Guys,

If everyone would get a 50-100 watt 2 meter SSB radio and a 10 or 12 element 2 meter beam horizontally polarized up about 40' or so, we could all talk out to 200 to 250 miles any time we wanted to. Ground wave coverage. Simplex if you will. No tones, no intermod, no links, no REPEATERS! Just 24 hours a day coverage for regular or emergency communications. BAMS VipirCast Tropical Advisory

10:30PM Friday 6-9-2006

BAMS VipirCast along with various BAMS ensemble members and numerous other global and regional models are all in agreement that the area of low pressure now centered between Belize and the Cayman Islands will continue to develop and strengthen into the first named storm of the season, Alberto. Most model solutions, including VIPIRcast, suggest some threat to the northeast Gulf Coast including the panhandle of Florida by early next week.

Current satellite-derived upper-level winds clearly indicate anticyclonic organization aloft being aided by outflow channels on the northern flank to the NE and on the southern flank to the SW. Further, land-based surface obs on Grand Cayman and at Cancun suggest a broad surface cyclonic surface circulation... thus it appears likely that a depression has already formed although this has not been confirmed by NHC.

VIPIRcast and related ensembles indicate that this storm could reach hurricane strength, and that there is some possibility of strengthening to Category 2 or higher status in the NE gulf of Mexico early next week.

BAMS will issue a formal discussion of this evolving situation and VIPIRcast tomorrow afternoon.

Technical Forecast Discussion: VIPIRcast

Discussion Issue Date/Time: 06-10-06, 5:30PM EDT

*TD 1: Model Initialization: 06-10-06:12z

This morning's VIPIRcast run is consistent with previous runs (last night's 00z run and yesterday's 12z and 18z runs and BAMS' ensembles), bringing the center of the first tropical system of the season north into the Gulf of Mexico and then re-curving it across north-central Florida and NE along the SE US coast. This is also consistent with all global model 12z runs including the UKMET, NOGAPS, Canadian, and US GFS. The VIPIRcast track is just right-of-center of the NHC statistical forecast fan issued at 5PM EDT this afternoon.

Latest satellite imagery suggests that most of the current burst of deep convection is somewhat north and east of the diffuse surface center, a result of moderate mid-upper level southwesterly shear. Last evening's upper-level anticyclonic outflow channel to the SW has subsided, while the easterly outflow channel to the north of the center remains in place -- a factor that has restricted overall organization. Given warm SST's and moderate shear, some slow strengthening is forecast by both VIPIRcast and NHC as the system moves to the N-NW over the next 24-36 hours before forecast re-curvature.

VIPIRcast and BAMS ensemble members have backed off on intensification from last evening's 18z runs as a result of increasing forecast upper level westerly shear (200-300mb) and deep-layer dry air to the NW of the system in the 36-54hr time frame.
It is still possible that TD 1 could become a minimal hurricane before landfall as SST's in the Gulf are quite warm, but this is beginning to look less likely given the current disorganization and the shear/dry-air forecast along its track. Further, the current disorganization of the surface circulation casts some doubt on the dynamical model track solutions since there is less certainty in the motion-response of diffuse surface systems to environmental steering; that is, it is harder to clearly define the storm as an entity embedded within such currents if the storm is not well organized. Thus, though VIPIRcast and the dynamical models are all consistent with the forecast track,there is some possibility that the actual surface low could slow or even be left behind by the mid-latitude trough now forecast to re-curve it to the NE.

However, assuming that its track does follow all current forecast guidance, it is conceivable, given warm Gulf-stream waters, that the system could (re)-strengthen once off the US SE coast, and VIPIRcast suggests the possibility of a strong tropical storm or minimal hurricane threatening the Carolinas by mid-next week.

In conclusion, VIPIRcast and all 12z models (discounting the NAM), along with the NHC agree on a track forecast that takes the center of circulation to the N-NW over the next 24-36 hours and then re-curves
TD-1 as a tropical storm or minimal hurricane toward the Florida coast north of Tampa - St. Pete by sometime Monday evening. BAMS will issue another forecast discussion tomorrow, Sunday, 6-11-06 in late afternoon.

I'm fowarding this from Lowell Bennington WD4DJW. In the future when I have some time I will try to convince the local EMAs and Red Cross to pay for this training. In the meantime , lets belly up to the bar and pay the $10.00 testing fee ourselves. We must get a foothold on emcomm training in southeast tennessee. We are far behind the rest of the state in this regard. Six dollars of the cost goes to the arrl for processing. Four dollars goes to the VE Team which probably doesnt cover their gasoline cost. Please call me if you have any questions. 423 472 02 18 or 595 8483 73 de n4xyc

I have formed an EmComm Testing Team and we have established some testing sessions. These should appear on the ARRL Wed Site soon. Any and all amateurs wishing to take the test are welcome.

+ THE VIEW FROM FLAGLER COUNTY

Northern Florida ARES officials met at the State EOC in Tallahassee, on June 27. Attendees included SM Rudy Hubbard, WA4PUP, SEC Joe Bushel, W2DWR, James "Kimo" Montague, K4IMO, and John Fleming, WD4FFX, both of the EOC staff, along with DECs from the northern part of the peninsula and the panhandle, myself and my long-suffering XYL Joanne, W1GUN.

I had never been to Tallahassee, let alone the state EOC. It was a good opportunity to see the facility, and talk to the section's key ARES people, and the battle-hardened veteran emergency communication professionals Montague and Fleming. They have seen it all over decades in their roles. The EOC is huge, with a wide array of communication systems, including top secret modes, and a well-equipped amateur station positioned at the State Warning Point.

After Hubbard explained the ARES organizational structure and section plan, he emphasized the fundamental concept of the EC having total responsibility for the functioning of his county program, and reiterated the section policy of supporting all modes of communication for ARES operations. The latter has sadly been a source of controversy recently. Hubbard called for reconciliation so that the section's Amateur Radio emergency communication community can focus on its mission.

Hubbard discussed the purpose and functioning of the State Tracker System, which provides for the registration of needs by counties, and the subsequent assignment of assets with tracker file numbers.
Fleming demonstrated the PC-based system.

The state EOC is not involved in lower level incidents, which are managed by the county and district entities. However, if the State is asked for assistance, the tracker system is employed. Fleming emphasized the importance of good relationships between the county Emergency Management officials and their ARES counterparts: The state EOC formally communicates directly with the county Emergency Management official only.

The group discussed the need to pre-plan and coordinate the use of radio amateurs by served agencies that tend to usurp them, undermining the authority of the designated ECs and DECs. The specific example of the Red Cross was discussed.

A brief discussion of Hurricane Katrina activities followed, with the State of Florida officials concluding that they would not be sending assets out-of-state in the future owing to the need to have enough here in the state for their own disaster responses. Fleming also emphasized that the state EOC will not be involved in deploying radio amateurs in future events, stating that the function should be performed by a national-level entity.

A protracted discussion of the training and certification of deployable radio amateurs led to the conclusion that the FEMA courses IS-100 and IS-200, or IS-700, be required along with the ARECC Level One course. Fleming said that the State has made grants to counties to fund these training courses.

Fleming and his staff have traveled extensively to large Amateur Radio meetings and conventions around the state to promote training, coordination, and support for Amateur Radio functions, a point noted with appreciation by the group. Fleming also noted the "extraordinary improvement of relations between radio amateurs and State officials over the past 10 to 15 years." This brought a round of applause.

An in-depth discussion of the current Northern Florida ARES Plan ensued, focusing primarily on the need to merge the ARES Levels of Alert with the State Levels of Alert. Fleming said that the current Plan is good, and ARES needs to follow the plan during activations. He suggested that existing District, County and any City ARES Plans be appended to the Section-wide plan for informational purposes.

It was a good meeting, and it was nice to see the amateur station in such a prominent position within the EOC, just a few feet from where Governor Jeb Bush addresses the media during major events.

+ JUNE ARES REPORTS:

Field Day 2006 turned from exercise into an actual emergency when ARES supported a flooding event in Sussex County, Delaware. Some areas received 15 inches of rain from the stalled weather system. Emergency Management had a difficult time providing road and medical crews to the affected areas due to the high water. Communications were disrupted by the volume of water affecting both microwave relay and buried phone lines that were severed.

During the event, amateurs stood by for communications assistance needed, on frequency and ready to go. Information was passed in tactical mode, with no formal messages. The National Weather Service requested that Delaware Skywarn be activated: Amateurs relayed reports of rainfall as well as roads impassable from high water and washed out bridges. Some operators were mobile in the affected areas giving NWS important reports. Thanks to the NWS, messages were relayed to the Sussex EOC making this a full circle of information sharing. -- Justin T. Kates, KB3JUV, Military AAT3OT, Communication Corps Coordinator, Delaware Emergency Management Agency (DEMA) <www.kb3juv.com>

+ GAREC-2006

ARRL First Vice President Kay Craigie, N3KN, represented the League at the 2006 Global Amateur Radio Emergency Communications conference (GAREC-2006) in Tampere, Finland, on June 19 and 20. GAREC-2006 was held concurrently with the International Conference on Emergency Communications (ICEC2006) convened by Finland's Ministry for Foreign Affairs, Ministry of the Interior, and the Finnish Communication Regulatory Authority. The purpose of ICEC2006 was to support ratification and implementation of the Tampere Convention of 1998. GAREC-2006 was also held concurrently with a session of the ITU's Working Group on Emergency Telecommunications (WGET). Having the three conferences held concurrently offered opportunities for the GAREC-2006 participants to meet emergency communications officials from many governments and international agencies. It also gave the Amateurs a chance to see a larger-scale view of international disaster telecommunications than we usually have access to. At the opening joint session of the three conferences, one of the speakers was IARU Vice President Tim Ellam, VE6SH.

Amateurs at GAREC-2006 represented Italy, Sweden, India, Finland, Ireland, Canada, Venezuela, the Netherlands, Japan, Switzerland, Greece, the United Kingdom, Bulgaria, and the United States. Hams from other countries who were delegates to the other conferences stopped in for parts of the GAREC-2006 sessions.

Vice President Craigie was elected to chair the conference. Making statements on behalf of the three IARU regions were Panayot Danev, LZ1US, from Region 1, Reinaldo Leandro, YV5AMH, from Region 2, and Ramiah Ramachandra, VU2RCR, from Region 3. Conference participants were given the opportunity to make presentations about recent emergency operations involving the Amateur Radio Service in their home countries. Seven countries' participants made presentations: Sweden, India, Greece, the United Kingdom, Switzerland, the Netherlands, and the United States.

Many Amateurs in the USA are not aware of how different the emergency communications environment is for hams in some other regions of the world. The GAREC conferences in 2005 and 2006 provided very valuable opportunities to exchange information about specific activities and to learn how our various countries' Amateur Radio cultures and governmental regulatory environments affect hams' service during disasters.

The GAREC-2006 final statement has not yet been posted on the web but will be available soon.

+ RED CROSS GIVES THANKS

"On behalf of the American Red Cross I would like to thank the ARES organization in southeast Wisconsin and especially Washington County EC Larry Puza, WB9BVB, for the timely, efficient, and professional response to the Red Cross request for communicators in conjunction with the disaster operation resulting from the tornado strike outside of Hartford.

"The call went out late Sunday night, which landed in the lap of Gary Payne, N9VE, the District Emergency Coordinator. Through him and the ECs for Milwaukee and Waukesha Counties, Greg Wolfe, K9ZZZ and Dan Workenaour, N9ASA, the number of communicators were found, organized and dispatched.

"This was the first exposure to use of amateur operators in a disaster for a number of the lead Red Cross personnel involved with this response. They now know the value of efficient, well-organized, professional communication and loudly sing the praises of ham radio.

"Buckle your belts, the requests for ham operators to help in time of disaster, and not necessarily "the big one" only, will certainly be forthcoming because of the favorable impression made by the ham responders in Hartford. A very large thank you to all involved." -- D. Stephen Buck, N9EAL, Communications Function Lead, American Red Cross Greater Milwaukee Chapter

To: Don Moore, KM0R, Missouri SEC: "It was my privilege to work with your ECs in April while deployed with the American Red Cross Emergency Communications Response Vehicle (ECRV) to the tornado emergency that struck Caruthersville, Missouri. The purpose of the ECRV is to provide emergency communications and technology support to Red Cross disaster relief operations. The ECs assisted us with installation of 2 meter and low-band antennas on the roof of our temporary facility. They shared their feedline, connectors, and tools in addition to their expertise, labor, ingenuity, and hospitality.

"These individuals exemplified the public service component of Amateur Radio through their skills, professionalism, and desire to serve. Please accept this note of gratitude on behalf of the American Red Cross. -- Craig Dieckman, KC9HWK, American Red Cross of Greater Chicago, Response Technology Team Emergency Communications Response Vehicle (ECRV) Operator

+ REPORT ASSESSES CATASTROPHIC PLANNING CAPABILITIES NATIONWIDE

June 16, 2006 -- The Department of Homeland Security has issued findings from a national assessment of the country's catastrophic planning capabilities. Responding to directives from President Bush and Congress following Hurricane Katrina, the Nationwide Plan Review looked at whether existing emergency operations plans for states and urban areas are sufficient for managing a catastrophic event. The Review also presents conclusions on actions needed by the federal government to improve and coordinate planning.
<http://www.dhs.gov/dhspublic/interapp/press_release/press_release_0930.xml>

Here are some excerpts, citing ARES and Amateur Radio, culled by South Texas SEC Jerry Reimer, KK5KA:

[Areas of Relative Strength] "The Review found that many State and urban area EOCs have added an emergency support function to incorporate Amateur Radio networks."

[Best Practices] "Rhode Island integrates volunteer organizations into nine of their ESFs and includes them at the State EOC, including Amateur Radio Emergency Service (ARES) and Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service (RACES) to provide Amateur Radio operations, the Civil Air Patrol to provide transportation and aerial reconnaissance and real-time imagery, Medical Reserve Corps for medical-surgical, and the American Red Cross and Salvation Army for shelter operations."

+ EDITORIAL: KNOW YOUR CONSUMERS

The purpose of ARES is to provide a service -- communication. To facilitate this, we educate our members, drill net protocols, practice message passing, and learn emerging technology. But how many can say they know anything about the entities ARES serves?

Unless having completed the FEMA ICS courses, little is likely known about a system used by many emergency management offices. While operationally significant, the Incident Command System only gives a partial picture of emergency management communication needs. While radio amateurs are practiced net control operators, how many have the exposure to public safety protocols and procedures to be an effective dispatcher if the county 800 MHz trunk system fails?

Another primary consumer of ARES services is the Red Cross. How many ARES operators know what services the Red Cross provides in a disaster relief operation? How many know how a Red Cross operation transitions when its National headquarters becomes involved? Unless the ARES member is also an active Red Cross volunteer, the answer is likely very few.

As communicators, why should we care? Because knowing the operational protocols and procedures of those we serve will increase our effectiveness as communicators for them. What does it take to be trained on ICS or the Red Cross' procedures? Time. FEMA has the ICS courses available free at their online Emergency Management Institute. The Red Cross' Introduction to Disaster Services course is available free online at the national Red Cross website. The Red Cross' Logistics Overview and Shelter Operations courses, which provide the basics of the operations for which ARES mainly would be moving traffic, are free through the local chapter.

The other key aspect to knowing your consumers is making sure they know you. If the only time government agencies and organizations see or hear from ARES is as a disaster operation executes, they have little reason to have confidence in ARES' capabilities. In some cases, if there has not been regular collaborative contact before a disaster, ARES may not even be included in their operational plans.

Expertise in Amateur Radio modes of communication makes the ARES operator a valuable asset. Knowledge of the agencies and organizations ARES offers its services will make ARES operators more effective and will provide a method to build an environment of collaboration with consumers before a disaster occurs. Additionally, Homeland Security is mandating the use of ICS. Therefore, OEMs are beginning to require proof of ICS training before ARES members can even step in their EOC or participate in their operations. With the lessons learned from Hurricane Katrina, the Red Cross is implementing additional safety and security measures a person must qualify through to work with a Red Cross operation.

Bottom line, ARES groups need to build and maintain a collaborative environment with the agencies and organizations they wish to serve or risk finding themselves sidelined. -- Michael Potaczala, KC4NUS, AEC, Orange County, Florida

+ IDEA: "TURTLES"

I am a member of the boomer generation. We boomers are an eclectic bunch, but where ARES/RACES is concerned, there is one particular boomer demographic that has not been fully recognized for its potential, especially in the very early stages of a disaster response.

It is a solid fact that boomers own more self contained recreational vehicles than any other purchasing group. What has that got to do with ARES/RACES? As more boomers-amateurs answer the call, the number of responders arriving on scene who won't "need to be found and issued immediate room and board" will increase dramatically.

The question of where to house responders when every dwelling and structure for miles around has been either destroyed or rendered unsafe for occupation became a logistical nightmare with Katrina and Rita. Planners were forced to set up tent cities dozens of miles away, which resulted in horrific numbers of miscommunications, delays and other logistical pitfalls.

Now just imagine an army of ARES volunteers able to respond and remain on scene for a week or more without the need of housing, food, sanitary or utility needs, and have the ability to contribute generated electricity and other services like satellite TV and even internet capabilities? As to setting up and manning emergency repeater sites, I've already met operators who have come up with ingenious tower installations. I've seen wire antennas stretched between two motor homes, and many other innovations.

I would like to offer the nickname "TURTLES" to this next generation of self-contained responders, as we can arrive with our house on our back. Instead of having to worry about bed and board for these ARES operators, logistical planners would merely have to provide basic security for an impromptu RV park.

Katrina taught us some hard lessons. It's time everyone started thinking beyond having a few extra batteries and granola bars packed in a go-bag. If the predictions of more severe weather patterns are only partially correct, week to month or longer deployments may well become the standard. Personally, I'd rather spend my sack time in my own (RV) bed than on some government surplus cot. What say you? -- Jeff Sabatini - KI6BCX

+ EDITORIAL: MANDATES FOR TRAINING

My day job requires me to work closely with federal law enforcement, as well as leading emergency managers. In after-work conversations with them, I hear mixed emotions towards Amateur Radio.

They are quick to praise our response, and usually point out that in the first few hours/days after a major event, we are often the only show in town---but in the next breath they will all recite horror stories of poor training, lack of preparation, and unprofessional behavior.

Critical to changing this attitude is a real push by the League to mandate standards that reflect the needs of our served agencies. That means ICS/NIMS compliance. It also means adopting standards for digital communications. I personally saw the value of Winlink2K in Hancock County after Katrina.

Among the actions that could be taken quickly:

1. Incorporate ICS-100 into the basic ARRL ARECC Level 1 course. Simply require students to complete the on-line FEMA course and e-mail their mentor a successful completion notice. No reprinting of course materials, no huge costs, just immediate benefits.

2. Mandate that NTS messages follow the ICS message format standards. Reprint those silly radiograms with their meaningless "word counts", etc. I love CW too, but we have to stop living in the past.

3. Require advanced NIMS/ICS training for leadership positions with ARES. It's available online for free.

4. Endorse digital standards. If Winlink is the HF standard, then work with dealers to obtain a discount for ARES groups, or seek to obtain grants to help offset the costs of amateurs purchasing the equipment. Ditto for a VHF/UHF standard.

5. Reward amateurs. The QST "Honor Roll" for those who complete all three ARECC training courses is a step in the right direction, but the top people need to be put on a par with top DXers or contesters. Why? Because they are going to be willing to spend their own money, and build truly useful mobile and base EMCOMM stations if they feel that it gives them status, the same way that they now build super DX stations, and contest operations.

I'd revamp the "Public Service Honor Roll." Stop giving out points for sending messages with meaningless content like "CW is great X Use CW today" -- instead reward people for taking advanced training. Empower SECs to reward hams who provide exceptional service during emergencies. -- Les Rayburn, N1LF, ARES Official Emergency Station; National Communications System; SHARES; SKYWARN; ARECC Level 3

+ LETTERS: RESPONSE TO CALL FOR PROPER WRITING

"Mistur Bishup: Eye lyked ur artikel in the lazt ARES e-letur. Awl tue offen peeple fergit theyre ateth grayde englyshe wen riting letirs and e-males." - Hank Greeb, N8XX

+ HIPAA COMPLIANCE

The department of Health and Human Services has generated a new "decision tool" on their web site to help emergency responders make quick decisions about the release of health related information as it applies to privacy concerns. This has been a hot topic for some time now. Thought it might be useful for others. You can view the tool here: <http://www.hhs.gov/ocr/hipaa/decisiontool/> -- Les Rayburn, N1LF, Helena, Alabama

+ K1CE FOR A FINAL

-- At the Tallahassee meeting, we noted the excellent job performed by Joe Bushel, W2DWR, as Section Emergency Coordinator, and his desire to retire from that position to concentrate on other personal goals. Joe had the right stuff for the job: good judgment, and senses of humility, humor and dedication to his DECs and ECs. Good job, Joe.

-- The League's Board meets this week in Connecticut, and an interim report will be filed by the chairman (Kay Craigie, N3KN) of its National Emergency Response Planning Committee (NERPC), of which I've served as a member. This has been a hard-working group of experts in their respective fields, and there is solid output to be reported. I'll have some perspective on the report in next month's issue.

-- Flagler county ARES put forth a good operation in support of the county's July Fourth Parade, with operators, including my XYL Joanne, in their shiny new ARES Vests. We're proud of our program here!

See you next month!

when the state plan comes out very soon , it will state that TN ARES will become the official amateur radio emergency "go to group" in the state. TEMA has told us that we will get our own tema id badges and a uniform shirt. I told the tema guy to make the shirt color "Big Orange" orange! hi hi

Other news... Bradley co. ema director has agreed to pay with emcomm training. If need help talking to your local ema director , then let me know. It might be better to wait until the new state plan comes out.

76. Emergency Communications Bill Includes Amateur Radio as Interoperability Agent

Emergency Communications Bill Includes Amateur Radio as Interoperability Agent

NEWINGTON, CT, Jul 27, 2006--A bill to enhance emergency communication at the Department of Homeland Security (<http://www.dhs.gov>DHS) includes Amateur Radio operators as part of an overall effort to provide interoperability among responders. The 21st Century Emergency Communications Act of 2006 (HR 5852), an amendment to the Homeland Security Act of 2002, passed the US House this week on a 414-2 vote and has gone to the Senate. Its sponsor, Rep David G. Reichert (R-WA) -- who chairs the Subcommittee on Emergency Preparedness, Science and Technology -- says his legislation is designed "to improve the ability of emergency responders to communicate with each other" -- interoperability.

"Until the events of September 11, 2001, many people in this nation believed and assumed that first responders from different disciplines and jurisdictions could actually talk to each other," Reichert -- a former police officer -- told the House in support of his bill. "It wasn't happening. It is still not happening today. Unfortunately, that was not the case then, and, as demonstrated by the inadequate responses to Hurricane Katrina, that is not the case today."

Reichert told his colleagues that the inability of first responders to communicate with each another effectively led to the loss of many lives along the US Gulf Coast last year. "This is simply unacceptable," he said.

His measure also would require the DHS to strengthen its efforts to improve emergency communications. HR 5852 calls for Amateur Radio operators to be part of a "Regional Emergency Communications Coordination Working Group" (RECC Working Group) that would be attached to each regional Department of Homeland Security office. The RECC Working Groups would advise federal and state homeland security officials.

Membership in the RECC Working Groups would include state and local officials; law enforcement, first responders such as fire departments; 911 centers; hospitals; ambulance services; communications equipment vendors, telephone, wireless satellite, broadband and cable service providers; public utilities; broadcasters; emergency evacuation transit services; state emergency managers, homeland security directors or representatives of state administrative agencies; local emergency managers or homeland security directors, and "other emergency response providers or emergency support providers as deemed appropriate."

Federal government representatives to the RECC Working Groups would include representatives from the DHS "and other federal departments and agencies with responsibility for coordinating interoperable emergency communications" with state, local, and tribal governments.

According to the bill, the RECC Working Groups would function to assess the survivability, sustainability, and interoperability of local emergency communications systems to meet the goals of the National Emergency Communications Report. That report would be developed by the Assistant Secretary for Emergency Communications "to provide recommendations regarding how the United States can accelerate the deployment of interoperable emergency communications nationwide."

Among other things, the RECC Working Groups would report annually to the Assistant Secretary for Emergency Communications "on the status of its region in building robust and sustainable interoperable voice and data emergency communications networks and on the progress of the region in meeting the goals of the National Emergency Communications Report." The RECC Working Groups also would be tasked with ensuring a process to coordinate the establishment of "effective multi-jurisdictional, multi-agency emergency communications networks" that could be brought into play following acts of terrorism, natural disasters and other emergencies.

HR 5852 has been referred to the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs.

Just wanted to pass this along to those of you that may want to participate with OARS (Ocoee Amateur Radio Society) during the Sept VHF contest coming up on Sept 9th and 10th. Waucheesi Mtn is in the Coker Creek community in SE Monroe Co, has an elevation of 3692 ft, and also has a 360 degree view. We have used this site for the last 2 years and are happy to use it again this year. The link provided is a map to the site with the "7" being the site. I usually go in from the Tellico Plains side of Hwy 68 and take Lower Smithfield Rd. We ought to have a good group of people this year and we may even purchase a new tent for the event. You can see some pictures on our webpage at www.wd4oar.org in the photo gallery section. The map is here

If you have any questions you can shoot me an email. Hope to see everyone there or work you on the bands...Rusty NE4ME

Greetings from Roane County, to the north.

I'm Bill Farnham, EC of Roane. In District 8.

Interested in all ARES efforts, especially in neighboring districts. Obviously many kinds of emergencies we may have to work do not recognize political or ARES District boundaries. So we need to know each other, talk with each other, support each other, and develop ARES capabilities together IMHO.

Enuff from me for now!

Yes Bill , I remember you and you are absolutly correct in thinking that we should work together.
Bill , I just about know every square inch of Roane Co. I lived there from 1979 to 1983. While I was there I had three hobbies for all the seasons. In the Fall and Winter i would hunt civil war relics with my metal detector. In the Spring and Summmer I would run Whitewater in my canoe and raft. If I had any time left over I would work some CW on my Kenwood TS 520 that i had set up from the hilltop I lived on in Holiday Shores in sugar grove valley. I did not run any VHF while living there because i only held a NOVICE ticket so I didnt really get to know any of the local hams back in those days. I missed my General by one point and never had time to go back until I was in my early 40's after I had moved to cleveland.
Yes , we could really use your help in Northern meigs or Rhea and Bledsoe in the event of an activation. My e-mail is n4xyc@.... Also we have Yahoo Group and I will send you an invite.What night is your net? Our net is tuesdays at 9pm on the 147.180 pl 118.8. Its very informal.

Glad to hear from you.

Hi, John!

Yep - I remember talking to you at Knoxville Hamfest. Nice to hear from you.

I know EXACTLY where you are talking about in Sugar Grove Valley. Used to be in LE in Roane, been all over the place. NICE hill for RF propagation, huh?

We're working on several porjects in our ARES group. The probaly single most over-arching one is the idea that our geographic location puts us in a vital spot for several reasons. One is the need for a ham radio communications gateway between East TN and Middle TN, especially as expressed by the need NWS Morristown has sepressed to have the ability to link, at least during activations, to both NWS Nashvile and TN EOC. The MTEARS system can do that. All we have to do is figure out how we can work a linkup thataway.

Also - Roane is the official receving county for two distinct and important lines of evacuation. We are the reception point for evacuees from a Watts Var site disaster for both Rhea and Meigs counties northward. We are also the receving county for evacuees in the event of site emergencies at the DOE installations in Oak Ridge, when those evacuees head east and south. Talk about being in the crosshairs!

Our ARES nets are Tuesday nights, same time as yours, KE4RX RCARC repeater 147.015+ (no tone). Except on the 3rd Tuesday night of each month - which is our monthly ARES "face to face meeting" we hold at 1900 on the Roane EOC.

The RCARC nets are Monday nights at 2000 on same repeater.

I'm also planning on having a page on info about nets on our ARES website page, which is now under construction as a part of the www.ke4rx.org website.

Big Projects for Roane ARES:
Interoperability issues with local agencies, installation of RigBLaster Pro and utilization in EOC for various modes including Echolink, installation of SCS PTCii Pro TNC in EOC and use mainly for Winlink 2000, installation of appropriate HF antenna on EOC for said use, help in location of new EOC (getting current EOC out of 3rd floor of courthouse!), help Roane Medical Center with communication needs, establish schedule for regular participation of our ops using RMC radio to check in to area hospital nets, development of portable packaged stations some of which should include HF equipment for use to include Winlink, and NVIS antennas for same.

So you can see - we got nothing to do :-)

I think this email list will be handy for us to keep in touch with. I'm glad there is such a group for District 7. I wish there were one fir District 8.

Mayhaps I can talk to Allan and see if he would support the formation of such. If that were to happen, we could get folks to cross-subscribe and further enhance communications.

Thanks for the reply, and good to hear from you, John!

126. OARS CHRISTMAS DINNER/BANQUET INVITATION

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2006-11-27 19:18:24 UTC
From: Rusty Boling
Topic: 126 Message: 126

The annual Ocoee Amateur Radio Society Christmas DInner/Banquet will be held Monday, December 4th at 7pm at the Ryans Steakhouse on Paul Huff Pkwy in Cleveland. Everyone is welcome to attend as well as your family. This will be a social gathering and no business will be handled. Come out and join us for a time of fun, fellowship, and food. A special note to those not familiar with the new banquet room at the Ryans. As soon as you go in the front door and go past the cash register there is a door on the left that leads to a private banquet room that accomodates approximately 35 people. I hope to see everyone there....73 Rusty NE4ME

I would like to invite everyone who can participate in this net to please do so. We are planning an exercise in receiving a NTS message, focusing on receiving the messsage and completing the message form properly. This exercise is intended to help those not familar with traffic handling in receiving the message and in preparing to pass the message to the next operator along the message route.

Thanks

168. NVIS Demo at OARS meeting Monday Feb 5th 7pm.

From: Rusty Boling
Topic: 168 Message: 168

Hello to OARS members and friends of the group. The OARS group will be meeting Monday Feb 5th at 7pm at the Bradley County Fire/Rescue Building on Inman St in downtown Cleveland. Joe Riner, WD4DES, will also be doing a demo and talking about his experience with NVIS (Near Vertical Incidence Skywave) on the low bands. I am sure we will also be talking some about Joe, John, and Van's trip to Waucheesi Mtn for the January VHF Icefest, I mean Contest, as well as this year's upcoming Dalton Hamfest. We also got the results back from the 2006 September VHF QSO Party and I know it's hard to believe, but yes, we won 1st place TN, 1st place Delta Division, 1st place in nation 1296 QSOs and Multipliers, as well as setting a new TN and Delta Division records, breaking our previous 3 records all in the Limited-Multi Category. Joe, Van, David, Tony, and John might even talk about the portable trailer/generator/tower combo that Joe bought and they have all been working on at David's shop (we need to get some pics of that online too). You never can tell, but their might even be some discussion of the Super Bowl. Hope to see everyone there! Looks like there will be plenty to discuss...73....Rusty NE4ME

174. Need someone to call the net for me tonight

From: Rusty Boling
Topic: 174 Message: 174

Sorry for the late notice, but the wife came home sick AGAIN and is already in bed AGAIN (2x this week)! Due to that and no one to keep the kids during net time, I will not be able to take the OARS net tonight. If anyone can pull it for me it would be greatly appreciated, if not, it will just go uncalled again for the 2nd week in a row....Thanks....Rusty NE4ME

Hello OARS members and friends of the group:
Just reminding everyone of the OARS meeting tomorrow, 7pm at the Ryan's Steakhouse on Paul Huff Pkwy NW here in Cleveland off of Exit 27. Some of the topics to be discussed: The nominations of officers for April elections, the June VHF Contest, as well the chance of running Field Day in the "EOC" class. There may even be a few pictures of the portable tower/generator/trailer of Joe's floating around, as well as a potential update from Joe on it's progress. I hope to see everyone there....Rusty NE4ME

Hello OARS members and friends of the group:

Just wanted to let everyone know that last night we decided to change the OARS net time to 8pm versus 9pm since we are a younger group of hams and several of our net control stations have children/obligations around 9pm. We hope this works out well for everyone. I am attaching a copy of the net preamble to this email for anyone interested in calling the net as well as a link to the OARS yahoo group in case some of you are not a member of that. 73 and hope to see you on the OARS net soon. From: Rusty Boling
Topic: 205 Message: 205

Just wanted to remind everyone of the OARS net tonight, at our new 8pm time slot. I will be calling the net and looking for some type of interesting topic and hopefully lots of check-ins. We are testing our new time slot. FYI OARS has it's officer elections on April 2nd, 7pm, at the Bradley County Fire/Rescue Building on Inman St in downtown Cleveland. John Alcock KE4TQM will also be doing a technical presentation after elections. Tune in to the OARS net tonight to see what his presentation will be on. Rusty NE4ME

Oars members,

For the last 12 years the OARS Club has provided radio communications for the local annual MS Walk-a-thon. Alan Pinney has been in charge of getting 4 or 5 guys together and spreading them out along the route. Our job was to watch over the walkers and make sure they all made it back. (Some of them didn't or couldn't. I've had to haul a few older people back in my truck.) We provided radio communications along the route and let the folks in charge know where everybody was. Since Alan has had 2 strokes I've kind of been his assistant. Alan would be net control. I would ride the route and check on the other hams and the location of the walkers. Everything has always worked smoothly.

Well this Saturday is the 2007 MS walk again and Sharon Clem has called me and requested our help again. They are meeting at Lee University again in front of the Administration Building. That's right behind the fountain on Ocoee Street. The route this year is going to go north on Ocoee Street to 25th Street. Turn left and go west on 25th street to Keith Street. Then get on the Greenway and walk to Raider Drive. Then turn around and come all the way back to Lee. The entire walk will be on sidewalks except for crossing Ocoee Street right at the school. There will be some Police escorts along the way.

I've been planning on helping out this year as usual. And then it occured to me last night....I'm going out of town Thursday night! I won't be back till Saturday night! I'm attending the 11th annual Southeastern VHF Society Conference in Atlanta. The walk starts at 10:00 a.m. but we need to be there by 9:00 a.m. The walk should last no longer than 2 hours. Some guys always run it and are back in less than 30 minutes.

Can some of you guys take over? John TQM? John XYC? Rusty? our new V.P.? I haven't talked to Alan. He will probably still be able to help. And some of the new guys need to get your feet wet on helping in public service. We usually worked it on the 78 repeater. But maybe simplex would work. Or try out the 146.925 RACES/EMA repeater. I trust that you guys will respond to this e-mail and reply on this OARS Yahoo group. I would really appreciate your help in matter. Let's try to keep up our annual tradition. Sorry; I won't be able to help this year.

Many Thanks,
David

p.s. Sharon Clem said to come inside the Administration Building and she will give you a MS Walk Tee Shirt before the walk.

A good discussion of RM-11306 currently before the FCC. This guy is on the Winlink team, but he does make several good points.

Subject: RE: [wl2kemcomm] Petition for Rule Making No. RM-11306

Hi Tom,

I'll try a stab at putting a finger on it for you. I think many are having a hard time grasping what has been going on around the "regulation by bandwidth issue" particularly with respect to WL2K.

First there are all the real reasons for the FCC to enact changes to Part 97 so the bands are divided up by necessary bandwidth. The current "by-mode" regulations carve up the bands in such a way to make some new modes impractical. One such example is SCAMP, developed by Rick Muething KN6KB. Many Winlink users have cried out for a viable, inexpensive sound-card mode that would offer HF performance approaching Pactor II or III. I was a beta tester of the mode, and though it offered promise, it had some practical limitations with S/N. It is in the same class, bandwidth-wise, as Pactor II, Olivia and similar modes. Rick weighed all the issues to continue development, (perhaps it was ahead of it's time because it needs loads of processing power not present in most ham's soundcard setups) and the overriding problem was apparent when one imagines hundreds or thousands of users trying the new mode in the present bands. The only place wideband modes are reasonably segregated from narrowband modes are in the "automatic sub bands", which are ridiculously and impractically narrow for crowds of end users. They barely support 29 PMBOs in day-to-day use.

The current regulatory environment is also responsible for quelling development of other new modes with similar characteristics.

The FCC chief engineer has suggested that the amateur service move toward regulation by bandwidth years ago. The ARRL, with their original RM-11306, bravely started in that direction. Basically, the proposed regulation would turn over the responsibility for avoiding interference to self-regulation, ARRL band-planning, and local coordination bodies, rather than be largely hard-coded in Part 97. The slow, hard battle to make Part 97 accommodate change would be replaced with more nimble self-regulation. It would be good for everyone, and the Amateur service will develop more quickly under such an environment.

Unfortunately, personal issues and politics have mixed in. One individual and some of his believers have personal issues against WL2K and the League. They have managed to wage a letter bomb campaign that spreads misinformation and preys on the average ham's aversion to change. These campaigns have many hams convinced that:
1) an evil campaign is afoot by the League in cahoots with WL2K
2) that anyone's favorite mode is threatened because the digital modes will be taking over their presently Part-97-protected spectrum.

Human nature, and being uninformed and ill-informed can easily result in emotional "preserve-it" responses. The average ham knows little about WL2K, what it does, how it works, and they do not care about it. They only care about whether they can continue to use PSK31 or talk on SSB or AM or CW or whatever their favorite mode is. Loosing a comfortable, stable "protection" in the current Part 97 rules is emotionally upsetting.

The big picture is that the world is becoming digital fast. The amateur service, inevitably (demographics do change as new folks are born and old folks die), will become largely digital. The question is whether we will have the new modes we want and need for more effective and cheaper WL2K (among other applications), or whether the amateur service will remain retarded in it's digital development. Development won't stop. But much of it just won't be available to hams!

More directly, and influencing things greatly for WL2K users is the affect this all has on where the WDT chooses to spend their time. Lately, with League HQ support visibly going backward, and the negative campaign waging effectively against Winlink, RM-11306, and the League, the WDT has chosen to spend time helping MARS and the DHS implement a parallel network. Here, the frequencies are available for doing unfettered good work. Without controversy. The agencies supporting the work are enthusiastic. Put yourself in the place of these guys (the WDT). They are motivated by the idea that they are building a system that does good for the world, and it's their legacy. Success is not looking good for that under the present amateur rules and the present environment. There is less and less motivation to build anew, and sadly, maintaining the amateur system is increasingly felt to be a burden with little emotional reward. When these guys taper off or quit, WL2K on the ham bands will suffer or maybe even begin to die. The League is not picking up the emcomm part, though they said at one point they would. This would be a victory for the few miss-guided folks who have personal axes to grind.

So there is a visionary, future-responsibility component to this, and mixed in are emotional battles over imagined losses of privileges and mistrust of the powers that be (mainly the League). That's the big picture.

So, who do you trust? What's your vision? What's a responsible position? You decide. This is America.

I'm glad you posted this to this ARES group! Way to go!

If you are referring to Lor Kutchins, he is not a member of the Winlink Development Team. That does not in the least detract from the veracity of what he has provided. In fact, he makes NOTHING but good points. I have provided my comments to the FCC and to the ARRL Bandwidth Planning Committee, to the TN SM and to the Delta Division DIrectors. My response was four-square in support of RM-11306 and the deletion of 97.221C(2). I hope loud protestation by those whose very protests indicate lack of understanding is not allowed to over-rule a progressive proposal that promotes the advancement of amateur radio art and technology, as opposed to those who wish to argue themselves into obsolescence by enshrining the status quo.

Basically the folks protesting about it make the ludicrous claims that WL2K "robots" will be all over the bands busting their QSOs because of automatic operation. In fact, operation is NOT automatic - the systems never just up and transmit on their own. They ONLY transmit when activated by receiving the signal of another station at which there is a live operator trying to find a route to send a message. Their scare-tactic claims simply are not true, and are based on inaccuracies. What they're talking about is the "hidden transmitter" effect -which is common in ALL HF communications, regardless of mode. It is not a problem that is caused by Winlink, but they would have you believe it is. Because of the way HF propagation works, it is common for a ham to be on a frequency, to listen for ongoing QSO like they should, and, hearing none, to try to initiate a call. What happens is that a couple of stations WERE engaged in a QSO on that frequency, but the person listening could not hear the more distant station because of the propagation. Hence they innocently interrupted a call, not knowing it was in progress. As I said, that happens all over, regardless of mode. So that argument of the Winlink-haters is a moot point.

They also complain about the bandwidth of PACTOR 3 - 2.4khz. Hmmm... the extra bandwidth of the PACTOR 3 signal makes it possible to transmit the message in a fraction of the time that would be required for PACTOR 1 or 2. And it's also a fact that the bandwidth occupied for A FEW MINUTES by a PACTOR 3 message is no greater than the distance you have to move on SSB on HF in order to find a clear frequency when you hear a conversation going on. And talk about bandwidth - how about AM signals?! But nobody's complaining about eternal conversations on SSB, keeping others from using the frequency. Same for AM. But, for some reason, PACTOR 3 using the same bandwidth for a few minutes seems intolerable to them.
The FCC rules allowing amateur radio to exist REQUIRE that amateurs advance the radio art. Yet the amateurs arguing against Winlink are like those who argued against SSB when it first "came out" - saying it will be the downfall of all amateur radio and using scare tactics to try to fool other amateurs and the FCC. That gloom-and-doom talk about the end of amateur radio and all the badns being taken over by some "automatic robots going around busting QSOs" is not any more true now than it was about the advent of SSB decades ago.

Thanks again for posting this in this ARES District. This information has also been posted to the District 8 DEC, who is a Winlink operator himself. It has also been posted, along with more information to all ARES operators in my county.

Hi Tom,

I'll try a stab at putting a finger on it for you. I think many are having a hard time grasping what has been going on around the "regulation by bandwidth issue" particularly with respect to WL2K.

First there are all the real reasons for the FCC to enact changes to Part 97 so the bands are divided up by necessary bandwidth. The current "by-mode" regulations carve up the bands in such a way to make some new modes impractical. One such example is SCAMP, developed by Rick Muething KN6KB. Many Winlink users have cried out for a viable, inexpensive sound-card mode that would offer HF performance approaching Pactor II or III. I was a beta tester of the mode, and though it offered promise, it had some practical limitations with S/N. It is in the same class, bandwidth-wise, as Pactor II, Olivia and similar modes. Rick weighed all the issues to continue development, (perhaps it was ahead of it's time because it needs loads of processing power not present in most ham's soundcard setups) and the overriding problem was apparent when one imagines hundreds or thousands of users trying the new mode in the present bands. The only place wideband modes are reasonably segregated from narrowband modes are in the "automatic sub bands", which are ridiculously and impractically narrow for crowds of end users. They barely support 29 PMBOs in day-to-day use.

The current regulatory environment is also responsible for quelling development of other new modes with similar characteristics.

The FCC chief engineer has suggested that the amateur service move toward regulation by bandwidth years ago. The ARRL, with their original RM-11306, bravely started in that direction. Basically, the proposed regulation would turn over the responsibility for avoiding interference to self-regulation, ARRL band-planning, and local coordination bodies, rather than be largely hard-coded in Part 97. The slow, hard battle to make Part 97 accommodate change would be replaced with more nimble self-regulation. It would be good for everyone, and the Amateur service will develop more quickly under such an environment.

Unfortunately, personal issues and politics have mixed in. One individual and some of his believers have personal issues against WL2K and the League. They have managed to wage a letter bomb campaign that spreads misinformation and preys on the average ham's aversion to change. These campaigns have many hams convinced that:
1) an evil campaign is afoot by the League in cahoots with WL2K
2) that anyone's favorite mode is threatened because the digital modes will be taking over their presently Part-97-protected spectrum.

Human nature, and being uninformed and ill-informed can easily result in emotional "preserve-it" responses. The average ham knows little about WL2K, what it does, how it works, and they do not care about it. They only care about whether they can continue to use PSK31 or talk on SSB or AM or CW or whatever their favorite mode is. Loosing a comfortable, stable "protection" in the current Part 97 rules is emotionally upsetting.

The big picture is that the world is becoming digital fast. The amateur service, inevitably (demographics do change as new folks are born and old folks die), will become largely digital. The question is whether we will have the new modes we want and need for more effective and cheaper WL2K (among other applications), or whether the amateur service will remain retarded in it's digital development. Development won't stop. But much of it just won't be available to hams!

More directly, and influencing things greatly for WL2K users is the affect this all has on where the WDT chooses to spend their time. Lately, with League HQ support visibly going backward, and the negative campaign waging effectively against Winlink, RM-11306, and the League, the WDT has chosen to spend time helping MARS and the DHS implement a parallel network. Here, the frequencies are available for doing unfettered good work. Without controversy. The agencies supporting the work are enthusiastic. Put yourself in the place of these guys (the WDT). They are motivated by the idea that they are building a system that does good for the world, and it's their legacy. Success is not looking good for that under the present amateur rules and the present environment. There is less and less motivation to build anew, and sadly, maintaining the amateur system is increasingly felt to be a burden with little emotional reward. When these guys taper off or quit, WL2K on the ham bands will suffer or maybe even begin to die. The League is not picking up the emcomm part, though they said at one point they would. This would be a victory for the few miss-guided folks who have personal axes to grind.

So there is a visionary, future-responsibility component to this, and mixed in are emotional battles over imagined losses of privileges and mistrust of the powers that be (mainly the League). That's the big picture.

So, who do you trust? What's your vision? What's a responsible position? You decide. This is America.

Bill,

Thanks for correcting me. I think that it is unfortunate that most of the discussions around this proposal have centered on Winlink. I am 100% in favor of Winlink, but I feel that the passing or failing of this proposal has a more significant impact on the future of amateur radio. This future is much more important that any one communication method such as Winlink, or SSB or CW.

Amateur radio, like any other hobby or endeavor needs new ideas and input in order to continue to grow and keep up with the ever-changing competition. Amateur radio is very important to those of us who enjoy the hobby by contesting or just rag chewing with our friends, but let?s face reality. Amateur radio is primarily important to the general public for its emergency communications capabilities. In my mind this is the most significant reason the FCC would not take amateur frequencies and give them away to someone else. If amateur radio does not keep at least an equal communications capability to those of commercial services, we as amateurs become less effective and less likely to be able to keep our frequencies. We must continue to develop new and more effective modes of communication. After all one stated purpose of amateur radio is to ?advance the radio art?, not ?stagnate? the radio art.

I don?t see where this proposal will make any fewer frequencies available for SSB or CW or really cause any significantly increased interference. On some days, how could you make what?s already there any worse? Anyway we will still have band plans, just as we do now.

I don?t ever foresee any time that there will not be a time and place for recreational communications in amateur radio, such as contesting and rag chewing, CW, SSB or whatever mode, but let?s face facts. Contesting and Rag Chewing are not likely to keep our frequencies from being converted to something/someone else.

I'm glad you posted this to this ARES group! Way to go!

If you are referring to Lor Kutchins, he is not a member of the Winlink Development Team. That does not in the least detract from the veracity of what he has provided. In fact, he makes NOTHING but good points. I have provided my comments to the FCC and to the ARRL Bandwidth Planning Committee, to the TN SM and to the Delta Division DIrectors. My response was four-square in support of RM-11306 and the deletion of 97.221C(2). I hope loud protestation by those whose very protests indicate lack of understanding is not allowed to over-rule a progressive proposal that promotes the advancement of amateur radio art and technology, as opposed to those who wish to argue themselves into obsolescence by enshrining the status quo.

Basically the folks protesting about it make the ludicrous claims that WL2K "robots" will be all over the bands busting their QSOs because of automatic operation. In fact, operation is NOT automatic - the systems never just up and transmit on their own. They ONLY transmit when activated by receiving the signal of another station at which there is a live operator trying to find a route to send a message. Their scare-tactic claims simply are not true, and are based on inaccuracies. What they're talking about is the "hidden transmitter" effect -which is common in ALL HF communications, regardless of mode. It is not a problem that is caused by Winlink, but they would have you believe it is. Because of the way HF propagation works, it is common for a ham to be on a frequency, to listen for ongoing QSO like they should, and, hearing none, to try to initiate a call. What happens is that a couple of stations WERE engaged in a QSO on that frequency, but the person listening could not hear the more distant station because of the propagation. Hence they innocently interrupted a call, not knowing it was in progress. As I said, that happens all over, regardless of mode. So that argument of the Winlink-haters is a moot point.

They also complain about the bandwidth of PACTOR 3 - 2.4khz. Hmmm... the extra bandwidth of the PACTOR 3 signal makes it possible to transmit the message in a fraction of the time that would be required for PACTOR 1 or 2. And it's also a fact that the bandwidth occupied for A FEW MINUTES by a PACTOR 3 message is no greater than the distance you have to move on SSB on HF in order to find a clear frequency when you hear a conversation going on. And talk about bandwidth - how about AM signals?! But nobody's complaining about eternal conversations on SSB, keeping others from using the frequency. Same for AM. But, for some reason, PACTOR 3 using the same bandwidth for a few minutes seems intolerable to them.
The FCC rules allowing amateur radio to exist REQUIRE that amateurs advance the radio art. Yet the amateurs arguing against Winlink are like those who argued against SSB when it first "came out" - saying it will be the downfall of all amateur radio and using scare tactics to try to fool other amateurs and the FCC. Dewayne - I think what you had to say was important and needed to be said to the entire list, and I'm glad you made that clear. I appreciate and agree with what you said. And it IS about more than just Winlink, although WL2K does have the potential for serious problems if this doesn't go through and 97.221C(2) doesn't go away. It IS indeed about current and FUTURE modes, many of which will be digital, and the advancement of the art. That simply can't happen with the current restrictive and archaic bandplans that regulate things by the letter of detailed law rather than the advancement of the art of radio. Of course, in the first two paragraphs of Part 97, the two reasons for the existence of the Amateur Radio Service are emergency communications and the advancement of the art of radio. If regulations, over time, become too cumbersome for that to happen, it's time to change the regs. The FCC realizes that - they've just caught too much flack from the doom-and-gloom screamers that it has caused them - and the ARRL - to back off their formerly progressive course of action. We need to encourage them to move forward.

Thanks again, Dewayne! Sounds like we're on the same page in the same hymnal :-)

OARS members and friends of the group:

OARS Meeting reminder for Monday, May 7th 2007 at 7pm at the Bradley County Fire/Rescue building on Inman St in downtown Cleveland. Topic(s) to be discussed are the ARRL June VHF Contest, Field Day, and I am hoping that Joe can bring (or I can tow for him) the portable tower/trailer/generator so everyone can check it out. We'll see what we can work out on that...Rusty NE4ME

Several people requested a copy of the map to Waucheesi Mtn for the June VHF Contest that OARS will be participating in. Here are some links to the map.

I am also placing a copy in the files section of the OARS yahoo group in case needed at:

If you have never been there before then I suggest printing off a copy

Thanks,

273. OARS Meeting reminder..final prep for June VHF Contest

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2007-06-03 13:26:25 UTC
From: Rusty Boling
Topic: 273 Message: 273

Hello OARS members and friends of the group!
Our next meeting is tomorrow, Monday the 4th of June 2007. The topics will be the June VHF Contest (obviously) and probably a discussion of who wants to do or not to do Field Day since it's only 2 weeks after the VHF Contest. Joe and Van have the contest trailer nearly complete now and road ready, so maybe we can get the trailer over to the meeting if there are no hang-ups. 73 and see everyone there......Rusty

Subject: 2007 ARRL FIELD DAY

MONROE AMATEUR RADIO CLUB
2007 ARRL FIELD DAY
OUTLINE OF OPERATIONS

What: Field Day 2007

When: Saturday, June 23rd and Sunday, June 24th.

Where: Kefauver Park Picnic Pavilion near ball field off U.S. Hwy 411
Take U.S. Hwy 411 South from Madisonville about 1 mile south of TN Hwy 68 intersection. The park is on the right.

Schedule (all times EDT):
Commence station set up ☐ 1000 hour (10:00 A.M.) Saturday
Commence operations ☐ 1400 hour (2:00 P.M.) Saturday
End operations/commence tear down and clean up ☐ 1400 hour (2:00 P.M.)
Sunday
We will be transmitting continuously for 24 hours.

Station Information:
Callsign: WZ4V ☐ Monroe Amateur Radio Club
Entry Category: A (Club/Portable/Emergency Power)
Number of transmitters: 1
Contest exchange: 1A TN

Station details:
We will operate out of the communications trailer set up at the Field Day site. We will utilize alternative emergency power only, using a 10 kw generator and have battery backup power. Logging of all contacts will be by computer using N3FJP Amateur Radio Field Day Contest Log software. Our primary radios will be the Yaesu FT-900, with an MFJ-989D tuner. We will operate at a maximum power output of 100 watts on phone/voice mode and CW (continuous wave)/Morse Code mode. During set up time, we will string a 160 meter dipole, and set up a HF vertical for 10-20 meter use. These should cover all Field Day HF bands.

Food & Beverage:
Monroe Amateur Radio Club will provide drinks. There will be a pizza picnic starting at 6:30 P.M. Saturday evening for anyone attending.

Park Information:
We will be operating in a Madisonville city park and will follow their rules

Mr. Jay Howard is our contact with the city. If any problems or safety/security concerns arise, we will contact him or the Monroe E-911 center at 442-4357. The Madisonville Police Department typically patrols through out the night. No alcoholic beverages are allowed.

TASKS:
To have a successful Field Day, many people have to contribute. There are numerous jobs that must be done and no one or two people can do them all. Here is a list of what needs to be done ☐

Radio Operators ☐ We need to keep our radio manned and operating the entire 24 hour period. Everyone will take a turn at operating that is what this is about.
It does not matter how slow or inexperienced you are .just get on and operate!
Under the club call sign, and supervision, technicians can operate on all bands.

Set up crew ☐ We will need 4 ☐ 6 people to help set up and string antennas starting around 10:00 A.M. on Saturday. We will begin the initial trailer setup about 7:00 A.M.

Take down/clean up crew ☐ We will need 4 ☐ 6 people to help take things down and clean up starting around 1:00 P.M. till about 3:00 P.M. Sunday.

2 meter / 440 station ☐ We will have a dual band radio setup monitoring the 147.315 + PL 141.3 repeater and the 442.550 + PL 141.3 for local talk around Signs ☐ A banner saying ☐Monroe Amateur Radio Club Field Day will be hung at the picnic shelter and a sign saying ☐Visitors Welcome☐.

Photography ☐ We need photos of various items to claim credit for bonus points.
We need digital cameras recording all aspects and participation throughout the event. Please email your pictures to chsatterfield@ bellsouth.net in the days following.

There are a number of things we need to do to earn the bonus points. We need members to cover all of these:

APRS Demo ☐ Charlie / K4EZK has the setup

Send NTS message to Section Manager ☐ see paragraph 7.3.5 in Field Day packet for details.

Copy ARRL Field Day bulletin ☐ The schedule is in the Field Day packet.

Alternate power ☐ If someone could bring a solar panel or wind generator setup that has enough power to operate a radio, we could utilized them, otherwise we will use the trailer☐s gel cell battery system. We will make a minimum of 5 contacts on CW QRP (5 watts) and 5 contact phone/voice QRP (5 watts) using this type of power to claim credit.

Visit by elected officials ☐ We will invite the Monroe County Mayor, county commissioners, city mayors, city commissioners and aldermen, sheriff, and other elected officials and emergency response personnel to stop by and review our capabilities and how amateur radio is the ☐communications infrastructure☐ of the United States. ☐When all normal means of communications fail, amateur radio gets through !!☐

Public Info Table ☐ We will need to set up a table with brochures and information about ham radio and ARES (Amateur Radio Emergency Services) These can be downloaded and printed. Please review the following sites:

http://pgh-net.com/oes/whatisanofficialemergencystation.html

http://www.hello-radio.org/whatis.html

http://www.arrl.org/

A visitors log is also needed for documentation.

Press Release ☐ We will send out a press release with a photo for the event to the three local newspapers. A sample is contained in the FD packet along with some good hints. A final phone call the morning of field day will be made in hopes a reporter will come by.

The club will meet one week earlier than the regular meeting. The meeting will be held the Monday before Field Day, on June 18, 2007 at 7:00 P.M. at the offices of the Monroe County Chamber of Commerce. Final details for Field Day will be worked out then.

Field Day is a lot of work, but is also a LOT OF FUN. Last year our club made 500 contacts all over North America, including the U.S. Virgin Islands, Puerto Rico, and the northwest territories of Canada. Let☐s meet or beat that total, but make sure we all have a good, safe time!! See you there.

Charles Satterfield ☐ K4EZK

Just a reminder of the OARS meeting tonight at the Bradley County Fire & Rescue Squad building on Inman St in Downtown Cleveland. Wanted to remind everyone since it's sometimes overlooked when it's this early in the month. Hope to see everyone there. Rusty NE4ME

==> Amateurs Play Key Role in Tennessee Earthquake Exercise

Almost 100 radio amateurs participated in TNCAT '07, the largest and most comprehensive exercise ever conducted by the Tennessee Emergency Management Agency (TEMA). The exercise, conducted over a 3 day period from June 19-21, was based on a presumed 7.7 magnitude earthquake along the New Madrid Seismic Zone.
This press release from TEMA proves that Tn. ARES IS continuing to move foward. We in East Tennessee have not heard much about the activities in middle and west Tn. and I will try to do better inform you as to happenings stat wide. 73 de N4XYC

TEMA's Operations Chief Hank Koebler, Jr, N3ORX, said he was very impressed with the response from the amateur community. "I anticipated a top-notch performance from them, but they exceeded those expectations by far."

Throughout the exercise, ARES and MARS continued to provide the bulk of the emergency communications. At the State Emergency Operations Center in Nashville, ARES and MARS operators were set up side-by-side to handle the communications load -- ARES handled voice on VHF/UHF and HF links into the disaster area, while MARS handled all Winlink traffic via HF. In the affected counties in West Tennessee, ARES operators performed damage assessments, provided the sole means of communications for the county Emergency Operations Centers and were the communications workhorses for TEMA's Regional Center in Jackson, Tennessee.

321. Boy Scout Hiawassee River Raft Race

Boy Scout Hiawassee River Raft Race

Date: Saturday September 15, 2007

Time: All Day

Type: Club Event
Reminder: There are reminders set for 2 days and 14 days before this event.
Location: Hiawassee River

About 10-12 Amateurs are needed to assist with event communications. The rafting event is scheduled for the morning and a demonstration station has been requested for the afternoon at the campsite. This area is very near the 147.18 repeater and the adjacent 440 machine, so lower powered radio equipment should be OK. We may wish to set up a small HF station as well as 2M/440 at the campsite demo. APRS would be a good show for this event and the demo if in range of a digi.

Please contact me, Dewayne, KE4IDH (ke4idh@arrl.net) if you would like to helpl with this event. Phone 423-309-5845.

Event Info:
The Ocoee District Camporee is open to other districts and troops/crews from other councils and will be held September 14-16 at Gee Creek State Park, on the banks of the Hiawassee River. Last year 17 units, 34 rafts, and 289 Scouts and leaders participated. It was our largest participation ever. There is room for 35 total registered rafts.

325. Fw: ARES District 7 Leadership Conference Call

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2007-08-29 02:56:03 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 325 Message: 325

We had a total of 3 participants in tonights conference call. I was hoping for more, but three is a good start. We discussed the current progress of ARES and future goals that the participants have.

I would like to continue the conference call periodically as a well to help bring everyone together. My role as DEC is to facilitate communications between the ECs and assist with whatever training needs there are. I don't see my role as being "boss", but I do plan to pass along information. This information should help everyone to better understand what is happening across our district and state and how we as amateur operators responding during an emergency can better fit into the response.

We do need a district wide training database. This database would list ARES members and the training that each has completed, as well as which county they are associated with. In order to plan responses outside our own counties, we need an understanding of what and where our resources are. There are no plans to bypass the local ECs when requesting help to respond outside your own county. I will send out more info on this as the idea comes together. Your comments are welcome and will be considered when developing the database.

I think that we are much better off than we realize, but we need to pull together a common list of our resources and work together to make sure that our local plans are not at odds with each other. We can better accomplish our goals by working together county to county and ARES with RACES.

The information below is copied from the FEMA website at http://www.fema.gov/emergency/nims/nims_training.shtm#1 These are the NIMS training guildelines that have been passed down to the states and local governments. As you can see, the list covers everyone with any conceivable disaster response job. You will also notice that in the first box, line 8 lists volunteer personnel at all levels. This includes amateur operators. As you go down the listing you see that as your responsibilities increase, more training is required. You as a communications volunteer, who responds to a location, either as single individual or as a group, will at some time durng the response be the supervisor or unit leader for the amateur communications station or group. This requires addtional training. This is where the information comes from that states that amateurs need ICS 100, 200., 700, AND 800 courses. Additionally, ARES in the state of Tennessee and District 7 in particular, also requires EmComm level 1 for all amateurs and at least level 2 or higher for ECs and other leaders.

For other information on my personal views related to this training you are welcome to read this article http://www.arrl.org/news/features/2007/04/05/01/

Enough on this subject for now. Again, my role is to help you build the best amateur emergency communications group that we possibly can.

Thanks for your time.

Kent,

It's not a problem. This was the first one and I knew that we would miss a few people. I plan to hold another one soon and will post the info on this list.

My role as DEC is to facilitate communications between the ECs and assist with whatever training needs there are. I don't see my role as being "boss", but I do plan to pass along information. This information should help everyone to better understand what is happening across our district and state and how we as amateur operators responding during an emergency can better fit into the response.

Your comments are welcome and will be considered when developing the database.

As you can see, the list covers everyone with any conceivable disaster response job. You will also notice that in the first box, line 8 lists volunteer personnel at all levels. This includes amateur operators. As you go down the listing you see that as your responsibilities increase, more training is required. You as a communications volunteer, who responds to a location, either as single individual or as a group, will at some time durng the response be the supervisor or unit leader for the amateur communications station or group. This requires addtional training. This is where the information comes from that states that amateurs need ICS 100, 200., 700, AND 800 courses. Additionally, ARES in the state of Tennessee and District 7 in

Boy Scout Hiawassee River Raft Race
Saturday September 15, 2007
All Day
(The next reminder for this event will be sent in 12 days, 4 minutes.)
Location: Hiawassee River
Phone: 423-309-5845

Notes:
About 10-12 Amateurs are needed to assist with event communications. The rafting event is scheduled for the morning and a demonstration station has been requested for the afternoon at the campsite. This area is very near the 147.18 repeater and the adjacent 440 machine, so lower powered radio equipment should be OK. We may wish to set up a small HF station as well as 2M/440 at the campsite demo. APRS would be a good show for this event and the demo if in range of a digi.

Please contact me, Dewayne, KE4IDH (ke4idh@...) if you would like to helpl with this event.

Event Info:
The Ocoee District Camporee is open to other districts and troops/crews from other councils and will be held September 14-16 at Gee Creek State Park, on the banks of the Hiawassee River. Last year 17 units, 34 rafts, and 289 Scouts and leaders participated. It was our largest participation ever. There is room for 35 total registered rafts.

Subject: [NRCEV] Feds to Restrict Volunteers at Disasters

Updated: 09-03-2007 11:17:27 PM

AP Online

via NewsEdge Corporation

NEW YORK_Retiree Gene O'Brien hurried to the World Trade Center site after Sept. 11, 2001, as a volunteer helping to shuttle supplies to police and fire workers. Some days, his only ID to get into the disaster site was a tattoo on his forearm.

"A couple times I showed them my Marine tattoo, and they said go ahead," recalled O'Brien, adding that he and other volunteers also came up with their own makeshift identification cards.

"We didn't forge anything, we just made them up with our own pictures and at one point we copied a UPC code off a Pepsi can and they were as good as gold," said the Scarsdale resident.

It might not be so easy the next time disaster strikes.

In an effort to provide better control and coordination, the federal government is launching an ambitious ID program for rescue workers to keep everyday people from swarming to a disaster scene. A prototype of the new first responder identification card is already being issued to fire and police personnel in the Washington, D.C., area.

Proponents say the system will get professionals on scene quicker and keep untrained volunteers from making tough work more difficult.

But they also know it is a touchy subject, particularly for those devoted to helping in moments of crisis.

"Wow, how in the world do we say this without love and respect in our hearts?" said deputy assistant U.S. Fire Administrator Charlie Dickinson.

"Everybody wants to come to the fight, so to speak, and no one wants to step back and say 'No, I can't do this.' The final coup de grace was the World Trade Center. Hundreds came that were never asked," Dickinson said. "Good intentions, good hearts, and it was extremely difficult for the fire department and the other departments to deal with them."

The Federal Emergency Management Agency came up with the idea after the World Trade Center attack and Hurricane Katrina in 2005, when countless Americans rushed to help - unasked, undirected, and sometimes unwanted.

Many of those volunteers angrily dispute the notion they were a burden. They insist that in many instances they were able to deliver respirators, hard hats, and protective boots to workers when no one else seemed able.

Ground zero volunteer Rhonda Shearer and her daughter launched a fast-moving supply system that bypassed regular channels, often infuriating city officials.

Even as she delivered box trucks packed with supplies over months of recovery work, she increasingly ended up in a cat-and-mouse game with New York City's police and emergency management agency.

Shearer, 53, said the experience convinced her that agencies are ill-equipped to handle major disasters - but don't want outsiders pointing out their failings.

Similar frustrations arose after Katrina, when people were shocked that the government struggled to take basic supplies such as water to the worst areas.

"They're more worried about keeping volunteers out than doing an analysis of what really went wrong," Shearer said. "Independent citizens need to be involved, where we have no ax to grind or cross to bear. But we will tell the truth, and we will tell what we see and bear witness to the incompetence."

Dickinson, the federal fire official, said the government is not trying to discourage volunteers, but he thinks there should come a time, within a few days of a disaster, when civilians step back and let the professionals take control.

Supporters say the ID cards could be checked at a disaster area with a card-reader device and used to verify a person's unique skills. For example, if police officers have been trained to handle hazardous materials, officials at the scene could deploy them to an area where their skills would be best put to use.

For reasons ranging from general safety to protection from lawsuits, construction and demolition companies want to see a disaster ID card program succeed.

Mike Taylor, executive director of the National Demolition Association, said his industry is talking with aides to Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger about putting it in place in his state.

"If California goes ahead and does that, it will flow across the country.

This is a really smart idea by someone in the Bush administration to be able to control access to the site and frankly, make sure there are no untrained people," Taylor said. "If somebody goes running down to the site, you have to stop and ask them, wait, are they certified to do this work?"

Interesting idea, just not sure who is going to volunteer to be the "Wal-mart" cashier and check everyone in/out. It appears that someone has figured out a good way to make a lot of money off of making the ID's and keeping some cash flow for keeping the training credentials up to date on the cards/database. I can just see them calling tech support in India on the satelite phone now. Ought to be interesting how this business venture works out or how the government bureacracy starts :^) Rusty NE4ME

NEW YORK_Retiree Gene O'Brien hurried to the World Trade Center site after Sept. 11, 2001, as a volunteer helping to shuttle supplies to police and fire workers. Some days, his only ID to get into the disaster site was a tattoo on his forearm.
"A couple times I showed them my Marine tattoo, and they said go ahead," recalled O'Brien, adding that he and other volunteers also came up with their own makeshift identification cards.
"We didn't forge anything, we just made them up with our own pictures and at one point we copied a UPC code off a Pepsi can and they were as good as gold," said the Scarsdale resident.
It might not be so easy the next time disaster strikes.
In an effort to provide better control and coordination, the federal government is launching an ambitious ID program for rescue workers to keep everyday people from swarming to a disaster scene. A prototype of the new first responder identification card is already being issued to fire and police personnel in the Washington, D.C., area.
Proponents say the system will get professionals on scene quicker and keep untrained volunteers from making tough work more difficult.
But they also know it is a touchy subject, particularly for those devoted to helping in moments of crisis.
"Wow, how in the world do we say this without love and respect in our hearts?" said deputy assistant U.S. Fire Administrator Charlie Dickinson.

"Everybody wants to come to the fight, so to speak, and no one wants to step back and say 'No, I can't do this.' The final coup de grace was the World Trade Center. Hundreds came that were never asked," Dickinson said. "Good intentions, good hearts, and it was extremely difficult for the fire department and the other departments to deal with them."
The Federal Emergency Management Agency came up with the idea after the World Trade Center attack and Hurricane Katrina in 2005, when countless Americans rushed to help - unasked, undirected, and sometimes unwanted.
Many of those volunteers angrily dispute the notion they were a burden. They insist that in many instances they were able to deliver respirators, hard hats, and protective boots to workers when no one else seemed able.
Ground zero volunteer Rhonda Shearer and her daughter launched a fast-moving supply system that bypassed regular channels, often infuriating city officials.
Even as she delivered box trucks packed with supplies over months of recovery work, she increasingly ended up in a cat-and-mouse game with New York City's police and emergency management agency.
Shearer, 53, said the experience convinced her that agencies are ill-equipped to handle major disasters - but don't want outsiders pointing out their failings.
Similar frustrations arose after Katrina, when people were shocked that the government struggled to take basic supplies such as water to the worst areas.
"They're more worried about keeping volunteers out than doing an analysis of what really went wrong," Shearer said. "Independent citizens need to be involved, where we have no ax to grind or cross to bear. But we will tell the truth, and we will tell what we see and bear witness to the incompetence."
Dickinson, the federal fire official, said the government is not trying to discourage volunteers, but he thinks there should come a time, within a few days of a disaster, when civilians step back and let the professionals take control.
Supporters say the ID cards could be checked at a disaster area with a card-reader device and used to verify a person's unique skills. For example, if police officers have been trained to handle hazardous materials, officials at the scene could deploy them to an area where their skills would be best put to use.
For reasons ranging from general safety to protection from lawsuits, construction and demolition companies want to see a disaster ID card program succeed.
Mike Taylor, executive director of the National Demolition Association, said his industry is talking with aides to Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger about putting it in place in his state.

Dewayne , We were told more than two years ago that tn ares members would recieve a card from tema and no one else would be permitted to enter a disaster area. I believe that Shawn did attend that meeting and hear Hank Kolbler , Cheif Operations Officer of TEMA tell us this. He also said we would have a shirt issued.

You should invited him to speak at the Chattanooga Hamfest. He likes to travel. He is an active ham and member of the clarksville amateur radio club

Hank Koebler is also EC of Montgomery County. Implementation has been slower than desired, which does not mean it isn't happening. In my county we have the asset management system that does the IDs in the 2D barcode (same as used by the state on drivers' licenses). The information sheets filled out before the ID is made include your qualifications such as IS100, IS200, HAZMAT, EVOC, or whatever. If qualifications exist that aren't on the list in the form, they can be added in the software that prints the ID. Then when the ID is printed on the plastic blank, that info is included in the barcode info. The information sheet also has space to fill in medical info, insurance carrier, etc. NONE of that info is in plain text on the badge - only in barcode. The qualifications, however, ARE printed in plain text on the back side of the badge, so they can be readily observed by a controller onsite. When we made IDs for our ARES group, we included amateur radio operator in the qualifications, also MARS, SHARES, etc. It is a very versatile system. This system can also print barcode tags for equipment, etc.

The process is that handheld scanners, looking like a PDA, are used to scan barcodes of assets that come on scene - be they human assets or physical assets. Wireless connections send that info to a central processor in the mobile command post or the EOC (if they come in through the EOC). The system knows what assets are checked in when and where, and when or if they leave. Very neat system.

It's not hardly a WalMart checker kind of deal. The person on scene doing this would be an official who is assigned at the EOC or at the Staging Area to monitor assets - depends - could be somebody from Ops or Planning, or even Finance. But part of the ICS and having management of this aspect of an incident as his/her job. The systems are bought/paid for by the EMA, and handled by them - at least here it is. It's not a vendor that comes in and offers the service. Tain't a Mickey Mouse operation. Of course SOME folks grouse about their pictures - as they do with TN drivers' licenses :-) But it ain't the Department of Portraiture.

I wonder if this software is the same software that I downloaded last week from the FEMA/ NIMS website. It sounds the same, but I have not had a chance to explore the software yet.

I was aware that Tennessee was/is working on an identification system. It sounds like the Feds are wanting some sort of standardized ID system all across the nation. This software may be the way that they plan to pull this off.

Dewayne.

Oh, by the way, I wonder how many folks realize that there is a 3D barcode on back of the TN driver licenses that can be scanned. I was in a pharmacy last week to buy some of that formerly over the counter allergy medicine that is now kept behind the counter. Instead of typing my ID info into their computer system, the clerk, just scanned the bar code. I had noticed the bar code before, but did give it much thought. Now, I will have to scan mine to see what info is contained in the bar code.

I wasn't trying to stir up a hornet's nest, but I think the principle of the ID system is good, especially if they can keep their technology working throughout a long term event. We all know that when anything moves up to the federal government level....well, lets just say that my experience has shown me that the educated fools are "generally" in control at that level. I have seen it time and again through my experiences. I am not saying that all are like that, but there is no doubt a pattern. I am not sure what other's experiences have been, but I have heard similar results when dealing with the federal gov't. I know the bar-code principle works in warehousing/etc, so it's just a means of resource management. If it were a county or state government then it might be implemented more quickly and efficiently. I always get a kick out of one of the freight company commercials. I can't remember the name of the company, but their motto is "Moving at the speed of business". Notice how they said "business" and not "government". I also remember the quote passed along to me about TEMA and their ID's and some sort of identifying clothing, but I have never seen either come to pass.....yet. I have also requested multiple times a copy of the TN State Emergency Plan from the state EOC (I have the one from 2001 I think it is), but have not received the updated 2007 version. If anyone on here has it, please forward it to me or let me know who you are so I can send you a DVD or CD that it can be burnt onto. I have also requested a copy of the state plan from the local EMA and they don't have it either. It kind of makes me wonder if there even is a 2006 or 2007 plan even out there as I have been told that there would be atleast a 2007 edition. The specific section that I want to become familiar with is obviously the communications section and how it relates to ARES and RACES. Thanks for the interesting posts Dewayne as this is more activity on this yahoo group than I have ever seen!...Rusty NE4ME

Then when the ID is printed on the plastic blank, that info is included in the barcode info. The information sheet also has space to fill in medical info, insurance carrier, etc. NONE of that info is in plain text on the badge - only in barcode. The qualifications, however, ARE printed in plain text on the back side of the badge, so they can be readily observed by a controller onsite. When we made IDs for our ARES group, we included amateur radio operator in the qualifications, also MARS, SHARES, etc. It is a very versatile system. This system can also print barcode tags for equipment, etc.

The process is that handheld scanners, looking like a PDA, are used to scan barcodes of assets that come on scene - be they human assets or physical assets. Wireless connections send that info to a central processor in the mobile command post or the EOC (if they come in through the EOC). The system knows what assets are checked in when and where, and when or if they leave. Very neat system.

It's not hardly a WalMart checker kind of deal. The person on scene doing this would be an official who is assigned at the EOC or at the Staging Area to monitor assets - depends - could be somebody from Ops or Planning, or even Finance. But part of the ICS and having management of this aspect of an incident as his/her job. The systems are bought/paid for by the EMA, and handled by them - at least here it is. It's not a vendor that comes in and offers the service. Tain't a Mickey Mouse operation. Of course SOME folks grouse about their pictures - as they do with TN drivers' licenses :-) But it ain't the Department of Portraiture.

Rusty, I understand and pretty much agree with your thoughts. The software that I downloaded is supposed to be designed so that the goverment agency, business, volunteer agency or whoever is using it can activate a networking feature that allows other organizations to view the availability of your resources and you to view availability of theirs. Like I said, I need to investigate this a bit more to see if is something that would be useful to amateur radio.

Oh, by the way, I wonder how many folks realize that there is a 3D barcode on back of the TN driver licenses that can be scanned. I was in a pharmacy last week to buy some of that formerly over the counter allergy medicine that is now kept behind the counter. Instead of typing my ID info into their computer system, the clerk, just scanned the bar code. I had noticed the bar code before, but did give it much thought. Now, I will have to scan mine to see what info is contained in the bar code.

Hank Koebler is also EC of Montgomery County. Implementation has been slower than desired, which does not mean it isn't happening. In my county we have the asset management system that does the IDs in the 2D barcode (same as used by the state on drivers' licenses). The information sheets filled out before the ID is made include your qualifications such as IS100, IS200, HAZMAT, EVOC, or whatever. If qualifications exist that aren't on the list in the form, they can be added in the software that prints the ID. Then when the ID is printed on the plastic blank, that info is included in the barcode info. The information sheet also has space to fill in medical info, insurance carrier, etc. NONE of that info is in plain text on the badge - only in barcode. On Saturday, Sept 15.

I have been advised that there are 43 rafts that will be on the river Saturday afternoon. The river event starts at 1:00 pm and will begin at Reliance, TN and end near US higway 411. We need several more volunteers to help track these rafts and also to help with setting up a demo station after the raft event. For the demo station(s) we need to present a good overall view of what ham radio can do, long distance communications and local. HF, ARPS, and possibly Echolink or IRLP if a node is accessible from the campground. If you would like to help with this on Saturday afternoon, please let me know as soon as possible.

Everyone, we need a few more volunteers to help provide communications assistance for this event. The event starts about 12:30 pm and ends by 5:00 pm. A Two meter radio is all that is required (portable OK), but APRS would be helpful. The Rafting Event will take place on the Hiwassee River between Reliance, TN and the Highway 411 bridge. The drive is about 40-45 minutes from Chattanooga.

If you can help with this event please reply to me or call me at 423-309-5845.

If you have already said that you could help, please confirm that nothing has changed.

Notes:
About 10-12 Amateurs are needed to assist with event communications. The rafting event is scheduled for the morning and a demonstration station has been requested for the afternoon at the campsite. This area is very near the 147.18 repeater and the adjacent 440 machine, so lower powered radio equipment should be OK. We may wish to set up a small HF station as well as 2M/440 at the campsite demo. APRS would be a good show for this event and the demo if in range of a digi.

Please contact me, Dewayne, KE4IDH (ke4idh@...) if you would like to helpl with this event.

Event Info:
The Ocoee District Camporee is open to other districts and troops/crews from other councils and will be held September 14-16 at Gee Creek State Park, on the banks of the Hiawassee River. Last year 17 units, 34 rafts, and 289 Scouts and leaders participated. It was our largest participation ever. There is room for 35 total registered rafts.

355. 2007 tn section emergency section test (S.E.T.)

Subject: SET Importance: High

Hello All,

I have had several calls and e-mails concerning the SET date for Oct.
06 and need some input.
The Army MARS will be doing their exercise and have invited the ARES to participate if we wish. The WV Section will be doing their SET that same day as well and has invited any neighboring Sections to participate. Both exercises will allow the Tn. ARES groups to get some much needed interoperability training and experience and would allow us to work on some of these issues.
My suggestion is to take the below exercises and incorporate a Tn.
ARES SET into these and run for approximately 6 1/2 hours from 10 am until 4:30 pm CENTRAL TIME. Please pass the word to your DECâ□□s and have them to pass on down the line.They can be creative in their scenarios for individual counties. We need to encourage the use of served agency stations as well as the hospital stations for this exercise.
The length of the exercise of course will depend of course on input from you all.

Please let me know your thoughts and comments.
Thanks
Jimmy O. Floyd
NQ4U
ARRL Tn. SEC

The ARMY MARS scenario is as follows :
ARMY MARS will be in this exercise Oct.05 thru Oct. 07

SCENARIO

The exercise scenario is for a magnitude 5.8 earthquake with a depth of fifteen miles located south of the Knoxville, TN area in Blount County. The earthquake will occur ten to twelve hours prior to STARTEX. Although at the high end of the range for the fault in this area, this is a realistic magnitude and depth for the event. This is not a catastrophic event such as will someday happen along the New Madrid fault zone in the central United States. The CP will be set up outside of the immediate damage area.

Personnel permitting, a forward team may be inserted into the damage area to test communications over a path of that length.

Damage will be caused to some non-reinforced masonry buildings, bridges and roadways, and dams. Rockslides will cause closure of some highways, and residents will need to be evacuated below damaged dams. Total dam failure is not expected at any site. Both landline and cellular telephones will be overloaded, impacting service throughout the area. E-mail service will not be affected from Nashville, TN west.

The WV exercise will be:

The scenario for the SET this year will be based on Westward Migration. The impact of a mass influx of people from the National Capitol Area filtering into WV if / when a terrorist event happens could produce mass chaos in our state. It is thought that people will flee to the west suing WV routes such as I-66, I-68, US Route 33, US Route 50. Other main routes in WV such as I-64, I-77 and I-79 will show a major traffic increase, too. It is also estimated that it will take up to 3 days to get needed resources back into our state, after the mass influx has passed. Many of those folks will see WV as a place to refuel, get food and the like. The quick depletion of these resources will cause major issues in WV. Grocery and convenience stores will have empty shelves and gas stations will have empty fuel tanks, and it could take quite a lot of time to get replenished but figuring no quicker than 3 days for replenishment. Healthcare (hospitals, urgent cares, etc) will probably be at surge capacity. There will more than likely be interstate coordinated contra flow plans. With all this, keep in mind that depending on the event that happens, we may have contamination issues to deal with, too. This will be a major crisis for our small state with a population of just 1.2 million.

WV amateurs will be there to provide needed emergency communications. And we will practice that very real scenario on Saturday. October 6. We are still discussing the time we will begin. There is a possibility of a rolling start â□" from east to west or a 1 PM start time for all. We are looking at a 2-hour drill.

ARRL 2007 Simulated Emergency Test

October 6 - 7

The ARRL Simulated Emergency Test is a nationwide exercise in emergency communications, conducted by ARRL Section, District and local Emergency Coordinators, and by Net Managers. Both Amateur Radio Emergency Service® (ARES ®) and the National Traffic System (NTS) are involved. The SET weekend gives communicators the opportunity to focus on the emergency-communications capability within your community while interacting with NTS nets. The main SET weekend to focus on this year is October 6- 7, 2007.

During September, the ARRL will once again be among many organizations and agencies across the country taking part in National Preparedness Month. "The Ready Campaign," produced by the Ad Council in partnership with the US Department of Homeland Security (DHS), is aimed at making citizen preparedness "a priority for every city, every neighborhood and every home" in the United States. The ARRL encourages you to consider this year's Simulated Emergency Test and all preparations as well as post exercise evaluations as a demonstration of both your readiness and Amateur Radio's readiness. Be an active participant in the SET and join the nation in National Preparedness Month.

Information about National Preparedness Month and how individuals, families and businesses can prepare for emergency situations may be found at www.ready.gov.

Purpose of SET

1. To find out the strengths and weaknesses of ARES and NTS, the Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service (RACES) and other groups in providing emergency communications.
2. To provide a public demonstration--to served agencies such as Red Cross, Civil Preparedness, and through the news media--of the value to the public that Amateur Radio provides, particularly in time of need.
3. To help radio amateurs gain experience in communications using standard procedures and a variety of modes under simulated-emergency conditions.

Format

The scoring format reflects broad objectives and encourages use of digital modes for handling high-volume traffic and point-to-point Welfare reports out of the affected simulated- disaster area. Participants will find SET an opportunity to strengthen the VHF-HF link at the local level, thereby ensuring that ARES and NTS are working in concert. The SET will give all levels of NTS the chance to handle exercise-related traffic. The guidelines also recognize tactical traffic on behalf of served agencies.
Test messages should carry the word "TEST" before the precedence; that is, "Test Priority" on phone and "TEST P" on cw. The text of such messages should also begin with the words "TEST MESSAGE." ARES units and other groups are free to conduct their emergency exercises anytime between September 1 and November 30 if an alternative date is preferred. The activity period should not exceed 48 hours.
The ARRL Web Page is a resource available to you as you prepare for the upcoming test. Check the ARRL Field Organization Page on the ARRL Web Site, http://www.arrl.org/FandES/field/forms/ for electronic versions of the SET reporting forms, traffic handling information, and several other items related to public service and emergency communications. You may e-mail your SET summaries to ARRL

Headquarters via sewald@.... (Electronic (text files) copies of these forms are included in this message.) If you print them out and mail them to ARRL via the postal service, the address is: ARRL Headquarters, 225 Main Street, Newington, CT 06111-1494.

Preparation is Important

Steps for the Emergency Coordinator

1. Sign up all available amateurs in the area under your jurisdiction and work them into your SET plans.

2. Call a meeting of all ARES members and prospective members to briefly outline (provide no details!) SET activities, and give general instructions. Do not divulge the exact time or nature of the test to them at this time. This should come as a surprise. Take this opportunity to register new ARES members and get up-to-date information on others. Hold an on-the-air meeting if it's not possible to meet in person.
ARES Registration forms can be found at http://www.arrl.org/FandES/field/forms/#fsd-98

3. Contact served agencies and explain the intent and overall purpose of the SET. Offer to send test messages to other branches of their agencies, and invite officials to your ARES meetings and SET operating sites.

4. Contact officials of any adjacent communities having no active amateurs and offer to provide representation in amateur networks for them as well.

5. Arrange publicity in consultation with an ARRL Public Information Officer in local newspapers and radio/TV stations by preparing an announcement and/or inviting the press to observe your group's SET operation. More information on Public Relations and Amateur Radio can be found here: http://www.arrl.org/pio/.

6. Set up liaison with one or more NTS local/section nets (if you don't already have liaison) so you will have an outlet for all messages out of the local area.

7. Formulate your plans around a simulated disaster.
Possible "plots" include: a flood, a serious fire, an ice storm, a missing person, a serious accident (automobile, bus, aircraft, for examples), a broken gas line, and so forth. Elaborate on the situation by developing a scenario, but please be realistic.

During the SET

1. Announce the emergency situation. Activate the emergency net. Dispatch mobiles to served agencies.

2. Have designated stations originate messages on behalf of served agencies. Test messages may be sent simulating requests for supplies. Simulated emergency messages (just like real emergency messages) should be signed by an authorized official.

3. Emphasize tactical communications for served agencies.

4. As warranted by traffic loads, have liaison stations on hand to receive traffic on the local net and relay to your section net. You should also be sure that there is a representative on each session of the section net to receive traffic going to the local area.

5. Operate at least one session (or substantial segment of a session) of the local net on emergency-only basis. Or, if a repeater is on emergency power, allow only emergency-powered stations to operate through the repeater for a certain time period.

After the SET

An important post-SET activity is a critique session to discuss the test results. All ARES (and RACES) members should be invited to the meeting to review good points and weaknesses apparent in the drill. Emphasize ways to improve procedures, techniques, and coordination with all groups involved. Report your group's effort using the appropriate forms and include any photos, clippings and other items of interest.

The Role of NTS

The main function of the National Traffic System in an emergency situation is to tie together all of the various local activities and to provide a means by which all traffic destined outside of a local area, section or region can be systematically relayed to the addressee.

Normal NTS routing should be followed. A valid exception is the handling of emergency traffic that should be routed as rapidly and efficiently as possible, bypassing various levels of nets when delivery can be expedited. Another exception is when one station is loaded down with traffic for one region or section. At the discretion of the Net Control Station (NCS), the station may be directed to bypass a normal channel and go directly to a lower (or higher) echelon net.

The interface between NTS and ARES lies in the liaison function between local nets and other NTS nets, particularly at the section level. Responsibility for representation of the local network on the section net lies with the local net manager who may or may not be the EC. Although we usually think of ARES members being the representatives in section nets, it is equally valid to expect NTS personnel to act as liaison to local nets.
At least one net session or substantial segment of a session should be conducted on emergency power. Plan a surprise session or two.

Advise the NCS just before net time. If NCS is unable to operate on emergency power, then someone else must be net control. Only stations operating on emergency power may report in during this time.

Summary

One of the first steps on the way to a successful SET is to try to get as many people as possible involved and especially new hams. In a real emergency, we find amateurs with all sorts of varied interests coming out of the woodwork. Let's get them involved in SET so they will know more about how emergency communications should be handled. Promote SET on nets and repeaters, and sign up new, enthusiastic radio amateurs. Many of those offering to help will be inexperienced in public-service activities. It's up to you to explain what's going on to them, and provide them with useful roles. They may like it so much that they become a permanent fixture in your ARES or NTS group. For a review of last year's nationwide Simulated Emergency Test, read the article in July, 2007, QST. The SET announcement is also in September QST.

From Foxnews.com

WAYNESVILLE, N.C. ? Eight Boy Scouts who got lost while camping in the North Carolina mountains turned up Monday as searchers scoured the heavily wooded area, officials said.
"They're fine," said Donna Johnston of the Boy Scouts' Occoneechee Council in Raleigh. "They're out of the woods."
Johnston said the boys and their three leaders had gotten off a trail and decided to set up camp for another night. They waited until daylight rather than trying to walk out in the dark.
Rodney Jones, an assistant Scout master whose son was in the group, said they followed their training.
"I knew they would do as they were supposed to do and that is hunker down," Jones said. "Everybody's in good shape, a little tired. They said if they had cell service, they would have called us. They were, as the Scout motto says, they were prepared."
Kathryn Logan, whose brother was among the lost Scouts, said he was finally able to get cell phone service Monday morning and told her the troop had gotten off the trail.
The group started the trip Friday and was due home Sunday evening. The search was started after they failed to return as a precaution in case any of the boys, all age 12 or older, might be injured, said Charity Sharp, spokeswoman for the Cruso Fire Department.
Firefighters and search and rescue crew members checked a five-square-mile area near Black Balsam Knob in southern Haywood County overnight, and a fresh search team of 15 to 30 people with tracking dogs went out after dawn on Monday, Sharp said.

Effective 11-5-2007, we (OARS) have voted to move the net back to the 9pm hour due to the time change, so keep posted to the OARS Yahoo group for any further changes....Changes will be made to the net preamble on the "Files" section of the yahoo group. Also, with membership approval, I have reserved the banquet room at Oliver's Restaraunt (on Keith St between Bi-Lo and Chic-fil-a) for the December 3rd gathering at 7pm. I hope to talk to everyone on the net tonight at 9pm as well as at the December gathering...Rusty NE4ME

To everyone on the list:

If you get an opportunity, please try and come by the meeting we are having at the Sheriff's Annex on Dayton Blvd, Chattanooga on Saturday, Dec 1 from 9 am to noon. We have around 30 people signed up for this meeting related to amateur emergency communications. There are hams, emergency management folks from several counties and TEMA as well as hospital representatives from all across southeast Tennessee scheduled to attend.

This meeting is for anyone interested in emergency communications in or near Southeast Tennessee regardless of any affiliation or not with any ham group or club.

The registration period has closed, but we could use a few more hams in the meeting and we can still accommodate a small number. Please email me if you would like to attend.

416. slight chance of svr tstorms for friday

SPC AC 271731

DAY 2 CONVECTIVE OUTLOOK
NWS STORM PREDICTION CENTER NORMAN OK
1131 AM CST THU DEC 27 2007

VALID 281200Z - 291200Z

...THERE IS A SLGT RISK OF SVR TSTMS ACROSS SE LA...SRN AND ERN
MS...AL...NW GA...ERN TN AND FAR WRN NC......

...LOWER MS AND TN VALLEYS/SRN APPALACHIANS...
A HIGHLY MERIDIONAL UPPER-LEVEL TROUGH OVER THE WRN U.S. WILL BECOME NEGATIVELY TILTED TONIGHT AND MOVE QUICKLY NEWD ACROSS THE SRN PLAINS INTO THE OZARK REGION DURING THE DAY ON FRIDAY. IN RESPONSE...A 50 KT LOW-LEVEL JET WILL STRENGTHEN ACROSS EAST TX
TONIGHT DEVELOPING EWD INTO THE LOWER MS VALLEY CAUSING RAPID MOISTURE ADVECTION ON FRIDAY. SFC DEWPOINTS SHOULD INCREASE INTO THE 60S F ACROSS THE SRN HALF OF MS AND ACROSS MOST OF AL AS A COLD FRONT ADVANCES EWD INTO THE LOWER MS VALLEY AROUND MIDDAY. STRONG
LOW-LEVEL CONVERGENCE SHOULD BE PRESENT JUST AHEAD OF THE COLD FRONT AND THIS ALONG WITH STRONG WARM ADVECTION SHOULD SUPPORT A LINE OF THUNDERSTORMS ONGOING AT THE BEGINNING OF THE PERIOD. THE LINE OF STORMS SHOULD GRADUALLY INTENSIFY BY FRIDAY AFTERNOON AS SFC TEMPS WARM AND INSTABILITY INCREASES ACROSS THE WARM SECTOR.

CONCERNING THE SEVERE POTENTIAL WITH THE LINE OF THUNDERSTORMS...THE NAM AND GFS SOLUTIONS ARE IN FAIRLY GOOD AGREEMENT SHOWING STRONG SPEED SHEAR AND ADEQUATE DIRECTIONAL SHEAR IN THE BOUNDARY LAYER FOR ROTATING STORMS. THE MODELS ALSO FORECAST 60 F SFC DEWPOINTS ACROSS A WIDESPREAD AREA AHEAD OF THE LINE. ALTHOUGH MLCAPE VALUES SHOULD REMAIN BELOW 1000 J/KG EXCEPT ALONG THE IMMEDIATE COASTS OF MS AND AL...SMALL SFC TEMP-DEWPOINT SPREAD SHOULD RESULT IN LOW LCL HEIGHTS AND THIS COMBINED WITH THE STRONG LOW-LEVEL SHEAR MAY BE ENOUGH FOR A TORNADO OR TWO WITH THE MORE PERSISTENT SUPERCELLS EMBEDDED IN THE LINE. WIND DAMAGE MAY ALSO OCCUR WITH SUPERCELLS AND BOW ECHOES AS THE SQUALL-LINE REACHES PEAK STRENGTH IN THE AFTERNOON WHEN THE STORMS ARE MOST LIKELY TO BE SFC-BASED. THERE SHOULD ALSO BE A SEVERE POTENTIAL WITH ISOLATED SUPERCELLS THAT DEVELOP AHEAD OF THE LINE IN THE WARM SECTOR. THE WIND DAMAGE POTENTIAL WILL LIKELY DEPEND ON THE FORWARD SPEED OF THE LINE AND THE AMOUNT OF DESTABILIZATION THAT TAKES PLACE. ANOTHER FACTOR THAT COULD BECOME PROBLEMATIC IS THE SPEED OF THE UPPER-LEVEL SYSTEM. MODEL FORECASTS QUICKLY TAKE THE LOW-LEVEL JET NEWD INTO THE CNTRL APPALACHIAN MTNS
BY LATE AFTERNOON AND THIS COMBINED WITH DECREASING LARGE-SCALE
ASCENT AS THE UPPER-LEVEL SYSTEM PULLS AWAY FROM THE AREA SHOULD

RESULT IN A QUICK DECREASE IN STORM INTENSITY SOMETIME LATE FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

DAY 1 CONVECTIVE OUTLOOK
NWS STORM PREDICTION CENTER NORMAN OK
1150 PM CST THU DEC 27 2007

VALID 281200Z - 291200Z

...THERE IS A SLGT RISK OF SVR TSTMS THIS AFTN ACROSS PARTS OF THE EASTERN GULF STATES....

...SYNOPSIS...
VERY STRONG/BROADLY CYCLONIC SOUTHWESTERLY UPPER FLOW IS IN THE PROCESS OF DEVELOPING ACROSS THE SOUTHERN PLAINS/WESTERN GULF COAST/LOWER MISSISSIPPI VALLEY REGION. AND...MODELS SUGGEST THAT THIS BELT WILL EXTEND NORTHEASTWARD THROUGH THE LOWER GREAT LAKES/UPPER OHIO VALLEY AND NORTHEASTERN STATES BY 12Z SATURDAY...AS A VIGOROUS SHORT WAVE IMPULSE...EMANATING FROM THE AMPLIFIED POLAR TROUGH OVER THE SOUTHWEST...ACCELERATES NORTHEASTWARD. THIS IS EXPECTED TO OCCUR IN PHASE WITH A BELT OF WESTERLIES EMANATING FROM THE LOWER LATITUDE EASTERN PACIFIC...AROUND THE NORTHERN PERIPHERY OF A STRONG SUBTROPICAL HIGH CENTER OVER THE BAHAMAS/CARIBBEAN. THE UPPER IMPULSE IS PROGGED TO BE ACCOMPANIED BY A DEEPENING SURFACE CYCLONE...AS IT SHIFTS ACROSS THE LOWER MISSOURI VALLEY THROUGH THE GREAT LAKES REGION DURING THIS FORECAST PERIOD.

DESPITE AN EVOLVING SYNOPTIC PATTERN QUITE CAPABLE OF SUPPORTING A MORE SIGNIFICANT CONVECTIVE OUTBREAK EAST OF THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY INTO THE APPALACHIANS...WITH THE BOUNDARY LAYER OVER THE GULF OF MEXICO STILL MODIFYING FROM A PRIOR FRONTAL PASSAGE...AND ONLY NOW BEGINNING TO RETURN INLAND...CONVECTIVE POTENTIAL TODAY/TONIGHT APPEARS RELATIVELY LIMITED. SIGNIFICANT BOUNDARY LAYER MOISTENING APPEARS LIKELY TO BE CONFINED TO THE GULF AND SOUTH ATLANTIC COAST STATES. AND...EVEN THIS...SEEMS LIKELY TO OCCUR AS STRONGER LIFT/COOLING ALOFT ASSOCIATED WITH UPPER SYSTEM SHIFT WELL TO THE NORTH/NORTHEAST.

HOWEVER...THERE ARE INDICATIONS AMONG MODEL DATA OF A LEAST A NARROW WINDOW OF OPPORTUNITY FOR SEVERE CONVECTIVE DEVELOPMENT...AS THE WEAKER SOUTHERN FRINGE OF MID/UPPER FORCING OVERSPREADS THE UPPER TENNESSEE VALLEY THIS AFTERNOON. IT APPEARS POSSIBLE THAT THIS WILL OCCUR IN PHASE WITH AN INFLUX OF BOUNDARY LAYER MOISTURE AND PEAK DAYTIME HEATING...PRIMARILY DURING THE 18-22Z TIME FRAME.

...EASTERN GULF COAST INTO UPPER TENNESSEE VALLEY...
MODELS ARE SUGGESTIVE THAT A NARROW PRE-FRONTAL TONGUE OF MIXED LAYER CAPE AT OR ABOVE 500 J/KG WILL DEVELOP BY EARLY AFTERNOON ...ALONG AN AXIS FROM SOUTHEAST LOUISIANA COASTAL AREAS THROUGH

CENTRAL ALABAMA...PERHAPS INTO WEST CENTRAL/NORTHWEST GEORGIA BY LATE AFTERNOON. THIS IS EXPECTED TO OCCUR BENEATH A WEAKENING SOUTH SOUTHWESTERLY LOW-LEVEL JET AXIS. WHILE THE STRONGER JET CORE IS PROGGED TO RAPIDLY SHIFT NORTHEAST OF THE UPPER TENNESSEE VALLEY TOWARD THE CENTRAL APPALACHIANS THIS AFTERNOON...850 MB WIND SPEEDS OF 30-50 KTS ACROSS CENTRAL ALABAMA THROUGH THE BULK OF THE AFTERNOON WILL CONTRIBUTE TO LARGE LOW-LEVEL HODOGRAPHS. BENEATH STRONG WESTERLY FLOW ON THE SOUTHERN PERIPHERY OF THE INTENSE MID/HIGH LEVEL JET...SHEAR PROFILES WILL BE QUITE FAVORABLE FOR SUPERCELLS...AS AT LEAST SCATTERED BOUNDARY LAYER BASED STORMS
DEVELOP. AND...THESE WILL BE ACCOMPANIED BY THE RISK FOR TORNADOES
AND DAMAGING WIND GUSTS...BEFORE ACTIVITY DIMINISHES AS A COLD FRONT
ADVANCES THROUGH THE INSTABILITY AXIS BY EARLY EVENING.

422. Pandemic Flu Exercise

From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 422 Message: 422

FYI to the list members:

I have been informed that the southeast Tennessee Health Department district hospitals and health departments will be conducting an exercise the first week in February. I was told that this will be mostly a paper/table top type exercise, but that there is an interest in exercising the amateur radio equipment that is in place across southeast Tennessee hospitals and Health Departments.

I don't have much other information at this time. When I do get this information confirmed and more details, I will get back to the group.

Also, this event requires that participants have the NIMS courses complete. These are IS 100, IS 200, IS 700 and IS 800 or their equivalent level courses as well as completion of the EmComm level 1 certification is desired. If you would like to participate, but don't have all the NIMS courses or EmComm complete, please contact me or your county EC and we will work with you to help you meet the requirements.

432. February Disaster Drill -- Hospital Pandemic Flu Exercise

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2008-01-17 19:08:40 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 432 Message: 432

Due to the late suggestion of involving amateur radio into this exercise and that there is not enough planning time, amateur radio will not be tested in this drill.

However, for Hamilton and surrounding counties, there is a drill coming up in March that will involve amateur radio. This drill is an airport related exercise. This drill is not planned to involve emergency response agencies in any county outside of Hamilton, but those amateurs in surrounding counties can participate in a mutual aid capacity.

Amateur radio operators participanting in this drill should have their NIMS training completed and EmComm Level 1. I will post more information here when it is available.

Those of you doing local nets, please include these announcements.

Thanks,
Dewayne Siddon, KE4IDH

441. DAY 1 OUTLOOK w/MAP

DAY 1 CONVECTIVE OUTLOOK
NWS STORM PREDICTION CENTER NORMAN OK
1159 PM CST MON JAN 28 2008

VALID 291200Z - 301200Z

...THERE IS A SLGT RISK OF SVR TSTMS FROM THE MID MS VALLEY REGION
NEWD ACROSS THE TN/OH VALLEYS...

...SYNOPSIS...
STRONG/SHARP MID-LEVEL SHORT-WAVE TROUGH IS FORECAST TO MOVE RAPIDLY EWD ACROSS THE PLAINS THROUGH THE FIRST HALF OF THE PERIOD. THE TROUGH IS THEN EXPECTED TO TAKE ON AN INCREASINGLY-NEGATIVE TILT AS IT CONTINUES QUICKLY ACROSS THE OH/TN VALLEYS AND GREAT LAKES REGION
THROUGH 30/12Z. THIS TROUGH WILL BE ACCOMPANIED BY INTENSE DEEP-LAYER WIND FIELD...INCLUDING 850 WINDS IN EXCESS OF 55-60 KT AND 500 MB SWLY JET STREAK IN EXCESS OF 100 KT JUST AHEAD OF THE TROUGH.

AT THE SURFACE...A COLD FRONT INITIALLY FORECAST TO EXTEND SWWD FROM LK SUPERIOR SWWD ACROSS MO AND THEN INTO W TX WILL MOVE RAPIDLY EWD/SEWD AHEAD OF THE APPROACHING UPPER SYSTEM. THIS FRONT SHOULD LIE ROUGHLY ALONG THE MS RIVER VALLEY IN ROUGHLY THE 29/21Z TO 30/00Z TIME FRAME...AND THEN WILL CONTINUE MOVING RAPIDLY EWD -- EVENTUALLY CROSSING THE APPALACHIANS AND NEARING THE ATLANTIC COAST
BY THE END OF THE PERIOD.

ELSEWHERE...ANOTHER TROUGH -- INITIALLY OFF THE PAC NW/WRN CANADA COAST WILL MOVE ACROSS THE PAC NW AND INTO THE GREAT BASIN THROUGH THE END OF THE PERIOD.

...MID MS/TN/OH VALLEYS...
STRONG SLY FLOW IS FORECAST ACROSS THE ERN HALF OF THE CONUS AT THE START OF THE PERIOD...WITHIN BROADENING WARM SECTOR AHEAD OF THE APPROACHING COLD FRONT. BY AFTERNOON...50S DEWPOINTS SHOULD SPREAD AS FAR N AS THE OH VALLEY REGION...WITH 60S DEWPOINTS REACHING AR/SRN TN. THIS WILL SUPPORT MARGINAL WARM-SECTOR
DESTABILIZATION...WITH 250 TO 500 J/KG MIXED-LAYER CAPE FORECAST TO SPREAD ACROSS SERN MO/AR/LA THROUGH THE AFTERNOON AND INTO WRN KY/WRN TN/MS THROUGH EARLY EVENING.

THUNDERSTORMS MAY BE ONGOING AT THE START OF THE PERIOD ACROSS PARTS OF THE OZARKS/MID MS VALLEY REGION...AND SHOULD INCREASE THROUGH MIDDAY/EARLY AFTERNOON AS THE FRONT APPROACHES. WHILE LACK OF INSTABILITY WILL ACT AS A LIMITING FACTOR...VERY STRONG LARGE-SCALE
UVV -- INDICATED BY NAM FORECASTS OF 12-HOUR H5 HEIGHT FALLS IN EXCESS OF 27 DAM -- AND STRONG UVV INVOF THE SHARPENING FRONT WILL SUPPORT STORM REDEVELOPMENT ACROSS IL/ERN MO/ERN AR. STORMS SHOULD RAPIDLY EVOLVE INTO A SQUALL LINE...WHICH WILL LIKELY EXPAND BOTH NWD AND SWD WHILE MOVING RAPIDLY EWD ACROSS THE MID MS/OH/TN VALLEYS.

WITH VERY STRONG DEEP-LAYER WIND FIELD...EXPECT DAMAGING WINDS WITH THIS LINE OF STORMS -- PARTICULARLY INVOF SMALL-SCALE LEWPS AND BOWS. MARGINAL HAIL WILL ALSO BE POSSIBLE...ALONG WITH THE POTENTIAL FOR A COUPLE OF TORNADOES.

A DECREASE IN LIGHTNING IS EXPECTED INTO THE EVENING/OVERNIGHT...AS CONVECTIVE LINE MOVES INTO EVEN WEAKER INSTABILITY ACROSS THE UPPER OH VALLEY/CENTRAL APPALACHIANS. HOWEVER...INTENSITY OF THE SYSTEM ALOFT AND STRENGTH OF THE DEEP-LAYER FLOW WILL LIKELY SUPPORT A PERSISTENT/LOW-TOPPED LINE OF RAPIDLY-MOVING SHOWERS WITH EMBEDDED LIGHTNING AS FAR NE AS OH/PA/WV/WRN NY. LOCALLY-DAMAGING WINDS WILL BE POSSIBLE WITH THIS LINE -- EVEN IN THE ABSENCE OF LIGHTNING.

Subject: 443.375 repeater

Everyone,

The 443.375 + (118.8 tone) is located on the Walden water tank on Signal Mountain. This repeater has been designated with a "healthcare communications" mission. I was able to talk with Wally, KD4XV on this machine this afternoon from his home, in Marion County. There was a bit of white noise, but was very readable. We will also check the communications from the Jasper hospital. We need help in checking the range on this machine in other directions and the surrounding counties. I will be monitoring this repeater during my daily commutes and after the Hamilton county ARES net on Thursday night this week.

Thanks
Dewayne. KE4IDH

American Red Cross Responds to ARRL Concerns Regarding Background Checks

In November 2007, ARRL President Joel Harrison, W5ZN, wrote to the American Red Cross (ARC) regarding concerns voiced by ARRL volunteers. In 2006, the Red Cross stated it would implement background checks that included, among other things, a credit check and a "mode of living" check for its staff and volunteers, including ARES volunteers providing services to the Red Cross during disasters. ARRL saw these portions of the background check as unneeded and inappropriate for ARES service.

In a letter dated May 8 of this year, Armond T. Mascelli, ARC Vice President for Disaster Response Services replied to President Harrison: "I can now report back to you that [these] actions have been completed and changes have been instituted which I trust resolves the concerns detailed in your letter. This effort took considerably more time and attention than originally envisioned, but I believe the results will now benefit our respective organizations.

"A new background consent form now [is] to be used by all Red Cross chapters for ARRL members and other partner organizations. The form and related process is limited to the name and social security number verification of the individual, and a criminal background check. References and suggestions to other related investigative possibilities have been stricken."

ARRL Emergency Preparedness and Response Manager Dennis Dura, K2DCD, announced the resolution at the ARRL ARES forum at the Dayton Hamvention? and received hearty applause.

"We are very pleased that the American Red Cross has addressed some of the issues that we raised regarding their background investigations and that we can move forward in a relationship that has existed for a long, long time," Harrison said. "The American Red Cross and the ARRL have shared a productive relationship for many years which has been of benefit to both the organizations and to the public. We are glad that throughout the past months we have been able to negotiate the issues that we had and have finally come to a resolution."

What's Next?

With the background check issue apparently resolved, the ARRL will be working with the ARC in the negotiation and creation of a draft for a new Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) or similar document to replace the one which expired last year; Dura and Keith Robertory of the ARC will be leading the effort. When complete, the draft of the MOU will be presented to the leadership of both organizations for approval.

"The ARRL is very pleased that the American Red Cross has responded appropriately to our concerns about the background check issue," said ARRL Chief Executive Officer David Sumner, K1ZZ. "We believe it now will be possible to go forward to negotiate a statement of understanding between the two organizations. We look forward to renewing and expanding the relationship with the Red Cross."

Laws that forbid the carrying of arms disarm only those who are neither inclined nor determined to commit crimes. Such laws make things worse for the assaulted and better for the assailants; they serve rather to encourage than to prevent homicides, for an unarmed man may be attacked with greater confidence than an armed man.
-Thomas Jefferson

Subject: Propane Warning !!! Please Read

For those of you who like to grill it up during the summer, here's a safety announcement you should be aware of. Please put this information out to ALL personnel. For those of you who exchange your propane tanks, this is something you definitely need to be aware of, especially in light of the recent news of 'Meth-labs' in our area. Meth cooks are getting propane tanks from exchanges at Wal-Mart, Lowe□s, etc. and emptying them of the propane.

Then, they are filling them with anhydrous ammonia (which they now have a recipe for by the way). After they are finished with them, they return them to the store. They are then refilled with propane and sent back for you and me to buy. Anhydrous ammonia is very corrosive and weakens the structure of the tank. It can be very dangerous when mixed with propane and hooked up to our grills, etc. You should inspect the propane tank for any blue or greenish residue around the valve areas. If it is present, refuse to purchase that tank. Check out the following website for more details. They also have pictures.

553. Technician License Course

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2008-07-08 01:56:09 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 553 Message: 553

Due to the requests from lesser populated counties in our district, I have scheduled a Technician licensing class. This class is will primarily be conducted by Interent webconference with the audio portion via telephone conference line. These will be a live instuctor/live student class sessions. If you are aware of anyone who might be interested in participating or just trying this out, please forward this message to them.

All you need is a fairly up to date computer with internet access. Faster than dialup is better, but dialup should work. The audio will be by regular telephone line (or cell phone) using a teleconference line. The only costs to the student will be the cost of books, licensing exam, and any long distance phone charges to dial into at 641 area code.

The classes are being scheduled once a week on Tuesday nights from 8:00 pm to 9:00 pm with the introduction session on July 8. Those interested persons who may not get this in time, can join the class anytime, but the earlier, the better.

We will be using the ARRL book, The Ham Radio License Manual, as well as established interent sites for learing and practice tests. We will also use a Yahoo! group for class discussion, link access, class calendar, etc.

Those who wish to join the class should email me directly at ke4idh@.... I will add you to the class roster and give access to the Yahoo! group as well as the web and phone conferences.

Thanks,
Dewayne Siddon, KE4IDH

I am activating Bradley County ARES at 1800 hrs. Sunday August 31th and will conduct an ARES net on the 147.180 at that time to prepare for HF operations. I will do a roll call for the local counties so our ARES Officers will have an opportunity to address the net. Please check in if you can. Be safe!

601. Healthcare Oct 4 SET

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2008-09-27 23:33:17 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 601 Message: 601

Hello everyone

ASECs, and DECs please help ensure that this information gets to the local EC for each county.

Even though I have been employed in the Healthcare world pretty much all my life, I am always learning new things and subtle details related to this business. It has come to my attention that we need to explain and clarify the normal disaster reporting mechanisms and pathways for EMA related communications vs Hospital communications.

In Tennessee, the disaster preparedness laws separate healthcare communications from traditional emergency management communications. As we all have a general understanding that disaster related communications go via the local EMA to TEMA. What is not clearly understood is that healthcare communications are separate.

In Tennessee, there are regional medical communications centers (RMCC), sometimes co-located with metropolitan MedComm centers. In addition, each county has a Regional Hospital Coordinator (RHC), who may be a local county health department employee or a state health department disaster communications coordinating individual. In Metropolitan areas, the RHC tends to be employed by the local health department. For your hospital, be sure to ask who the RHC is and how to contact them.

For healthcare/hospital communications, during "normal" disasters, the information is supposed to flow from the local hospital to the RHC. The RHC in times of disaster can be collocated with the regional medcomm or at the regional office of the state health department. The RHC is responsible for liaising and passing information to the EMA for coordinating activities. This does not mean that if a local hospital and EMA have a good working relationship that they cannot share information. The system was designed with the RHC being the EMA contact in order to streamline the communications pathways for the hospitals. This is a general overview of the communications pathways. Your area may have a slightly modified pathway, so it is important to ask for this information.

For the October 4 SET, if a hospital has asked to participate, be sure to ask if the local RHC and/or RMCC/MedComm is participating since these are needed in order for the information to be passed appropriately. If the RMCC/MedComm is participating, it is also important to know which other RMCC/MedComms are also participating. Messages should be passed between RMCC/MedComms in different regions to show regional coordination. If you hospital facility has WinLink installed, is appropriate to use it if you desire. Ask if the RHC will be passing status information to EMA. If not, then you can consider passing a hospital status message to TEMA via your area's MARS operator. The status message should be something simple such as (hospital xyz, minor roof damage, flooding, but open and operating normally). Please try to keep with the usual communicaitons plan for your facility in order to lessen any confusion that may develop.

As with any communication for the served agency, the communications should be directed to the destination as specified by the served agency. The best scenario for hospital communications in this test would be using as much RF as possible whether it be HF, VHF, UHF, voice or some type of data. This depends on your area and hospital's setup and capabilities.

For healthcare facilities participating in the SET, please try to determine if your facility desires to join the exercise and to what extent. Please let me know which faculties and organizations are participating so I can keep a centrally located SET record for healthcare comms.

Thanks,
Dewayne Siddon KE4IDH

Since this falls on the holiday, we will not have the net this month. The next session will be in February. Thanks to everyone who has participated over the last year, and I hope to see you in February. Happy New Year.

Subject: FW: [NRCEV] Fw: NIMS Credentialing Guidelines

Attached is an excerpt from the December 24 Federal Register. This document discusses FEMA credentialing program set up (Voluntary Private Sector Accreditation and Certification Preparedness Program). You may wish to share this with others.

There is an open comment period for anyone to make comments to FEMA concerning this document.

"This Notice discusses essential elements of the program, describes the consultation that has taken place and will take place with the private sector, and seeks additional recommendations in a number of areas, including the private sector preparedness standards that DHS should adopt, both initially and over time. DATES: Comment period: Anyone may submit comments on this guidance at any time, and comments will be considered as they are received. We would appreciate any recommendations for adoption of currently-existing private sector preparedness standards by January 23, 2009, though, as made clear below, we will accept submissions of private sector preparedness standards for adoption as well as comments on this notice at any time."

Thanks,
Dewayne

From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 752 Message: 752

During the April Wide Area Net, a local listing of local and regional nets was discussed. As a result I have added a nets database to this group. Everyone, please feel free to review the information. Any group member can add to the listings, but only moderators can edit or delete information from the table.

Please review the list to see if your local or regional net is listed. If not, please feel free to add it to the list. Please make sure that contact information is accurate and that you have permission before adding anyone's contact information to the list.

Thanks,
Dewayne, KE4IDH

I have uploaded example ICS forms that we used for the Chattanooga Tour de Cure this year. These were placed on the TN_ARESDistrict7 yahoo group files area. as well as links to various related forms in the links area. These are links to ICS forms workbooks that can make using these forms easier.

I would line to review and discuss the Tour de Cure examples on the next month's Wide Area net on the first Thursday at 21:15 on the 442.25 (118.8) WD4DES repeater, and any other nets as requested.

Please meet me on the net to discuss the pros and cons of these forms for our public service events. Share this notice with anyone who has an interest.

I would suggest down loading the forms in advance of the net.

Dewayne Siddon, KE4IDH

1227. RE: [TN_ARESDistrict7] Tennessee Ragnar Relay Race - Chattanooga to Nashville

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2011-07-22 00:45:53 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 1221 Message: 1227

The Tennessee Ragnar Relay Race will be held again this year. This race will start in Chattanooga and end in Nashville. It is a 2 day event that runs 24 hrs each day.

The event organizers have asked for communications support from amateur radio volunteers again this year. Each local ARES group will be responsible for manning the major and minor rest stops in their county. For more information, ue the link below. Erick Sutherland, AJ4QR is the coordinator for this event. A information sharing email group has been set up to support planning for this event. If you would like more information, you can join the group (https://groups.google.com/group/tennessee-ragnar-relay-communications-suppor t), contact your local EC (you may need to provide additional information to your EC). Joining the Google Group is recommended. You may also reply to this message for additional information.

This is an excellent opportunity to practice coordinating communications over long distances and interoperability between multiple ARES groups.

http://www.ragnarrelay.com/race/tennessee

Dewayne Siddon, KE4IDH

The race

will be run the 4th and 5th of Nov,

1264. SET 2011

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2011-09-28 20:29:43 UTC
From: Carl
Topic: 1264 Message: 1264

The following are suggestions, please feel free to offer suggestions for making this better. The suggested time schedule does not allow for establishing a contact, but not necessarily for completing the message transmission.

These would be in addition to what ever plan your local group may have in place.

Suggested simplex frequencies and monitoring schedule for the SET in SE TN area:

simplex:
top of the hour 147.420
15 mins after the hour 146.520 calling (for those who may not be aware of 147.420)
30 mins after the hour 446.000

Winmor P2P or other digital modes (users should monitor for various sound card modes, Winmor P2P, V4Chat, PSK31, are suggested.
simplex
20 mins after the hour 144.980 FM
35 minus after the hour for packet on 145.550 and/or 145.050
40 mins after the hour 144.250 USB
45 mins after the hour 28.130 USB
50 mins afer the hour 7.073 USB

I included a 10 meter frequency because a simple wire antenna would be easy to deploy in most areas, and may be useful.

A 40 meter wire antenna could be easily deployed for NVIS work in a real event.

Thanks
Dewayne, ke4idh

Date: 2011-09-30 20:23:27 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 1264 Message: 1267

It was broght to my attention that I should clarify that 28.13 and 7.073 were intended as for digital transmission, not voice.

We can add a 10 meter voice frequency if anyone wants to do so. To keep it withing the Tech portion of the band, maybe 28.400 USB.

Thanks,
Dewayne KE4IDH

25th Anniversary Three State Three Mountain Bike Challenge - Saturday, May 5, 2012
Start/Finish - Chattanooga's Finley Stadium

We're still in need of a few additional volunteers to make this years event a success. Come spend what looks to be an amazing day in Tennessee, Alabama, and Georgia. Positions vary from fixed locations (rest stations and start/finish) to lead/sweep vehicles helping track the progress of over 1,800 bikes from all over the world at the take on 25 miles, 62 miles, 90 miles, and 100 miles. All you need is a dependable 2M handheld (external antenna recommended) or mobile station. We'll be on 440 as well (optional). Running APRS is a strong plus! Come practice your field operating skills helping to provide event and safety communications at one of the south's largest bike rides. Not able to spend all day? Come work a shift - lots of scheduling options available!

Operating details will be provided prior to the event to stations. For more information about the routes, event hours, etc go the http://www.chattbike.com

1420. Fw: Waterfront triathon 2012

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2012-06-17 16:37:25 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 1420 Message: 1420

Good afternoon everyone,

You are being contacted related to your participation with ARES, Hamilton County ACS, or another ham radio group.

For the ACS/Hamilton County ARES members you can expect to see a reorganization and revitalization effort in the next few weeks.

As many of you are probably aware, Chattanooga, Hamilton County, and Volkswagen will be hosting/sponsoring the USA Cycling Professional Road and Time Trial National Championships 2013 through 2015. In preparation for this event in which Amateur Radio volunteers are expected to play an important part, we are encouraging anyone interested ,to volunteer at other local, similar events. Participation in these events helps everyone to understand what is needed from the volunteer, allows the volunteer to access his/her equipment needs, learn the net control/field participant communication methods, and most importantly gives the volunteer an opportunity to decide if they like volunteering their services to these events.

While many of us may volunteer already, these some of these 'training' events occur over large distances and many locations. This gives you and our various groups the opportunity to learn and practice skills related to 100 mile events covering multiple states as well as those covering local venues.

The first 'training' event is on July 8. This is the Chattanooga Waterfront Triathlon. For this event, we need 12 volunteers. During the week before the event, we will be emailing the assignments for each volunteer as well as other information about volunteering in the event. Please volunteer early, by emailing or contacting either Shawn Stoddard, KG4OVQ or me Dewayne Siddon, KE4IDH. We are working on a calendar of other events to help in planning and scheduling your time.

Informational links are included below.

Thanks,
Dewayne Siddon, KE4IDH

Got a call from Mark Wisdom regarding helping again this year. Location and power are the same as last year. Can you put out the word while I am gone to Hamilton County ARES, Bradley ARES, and the Collegedale club? Probably need 8-12 volunteers. I will be back on-line towards the end of the week.

Good afternoon everyone,

You are being contacted related to your participation with ARES, Hamilton County ACS, or another ham radio group.

For the ACS/Hamilton County ARES members you can expect to see a reorganization and revitalization effort in the next few weeks.

As many of you are probably aware, Chattanooga, Hamilton County, and Volkswagen will be hosting/sponsoring the USA Cycling Professional Road and Time Trial National Championships 2013 through 2015. In preparation for this event in which Amateur Radio volunteers are expected to play an important part, we are encouraging anyone interested ,to volunteer at other local, similar events. Participation in these events helps everyone to understand what is needed from the volunteer, allows the volunteer to access his/her equipment needs, learn the net control/field participant communication methods, and most importantly gives the volunteer an opportunity to decide if they like volunteering their services to these events.

While many of us may volunteer already, these some of these 'training' events occur over large distances and many locations. This gives you and our various groups the opportunity to learn and practice skills related to 100 mile events covering multiple states as well as those covering local venues.

The first 'training' event is on July 8. This is the Chattanooga Waterfront Triathlon. For this event, we need 12 volunteers. During the week before the event, we will be emailing the assignments for each volunteer as well as other information about volunteering in the event. Please volunteer early, by emailing or contacting either Shawn Stoddard, KG4OVQ or me Dewayne Siddon, KE4IDH. We are working on a calendar of other events to help in planning and scheduling your time.

Informational links are included below.

Thanks,
Dewayne Siddon, KE4IDH

Got a call from Mark Wisdom regarding helping again this year. Location and power are the same as last year. Can you put out the word while I am gone to Hamilton County ARES, Bradley ARES, and the Collegedale club? Probably need 8-12 volunteers. I will be back on-line towards the end of the week.

210 PM EDT MON AUG 13 2012

THIS HAZARDOUS WEATHER OUTLOOK IS FOR NORTH AND CENTRAL GEORGIA.

DAY ONE...THIS AFTERNOON AND TONIGHT...
ISOLATED SEVERE THUNDERSTORMS EXPECTED OVER PARTS OF NORTH GEORGIA
THIS AFTERNOON AND EVENING.
HIGH FIRE DANGER CONDITIONS ARE EXPECTED OVER PORTIONS OF CENTRAL GEORGIA THIS AFTERNOON.

SYNOPSIS...
MOISTURE WILL INCREASE AHEAD OF A COLD FRONT OVER NORTH AND WEST
GEORGIA THROUGH TONIGHT. DRY HIGH PRESSURE WILL REMAIN OVER PARTS CENTRAL GEORGIA THIS AFTERNOON.

PRIMARY HAZARDS...
THE PRIMARY HAZARDS FROM SEVERE THUNDERSTORMS WILL BE DAMAGING WINDS AND FREQUENT LIGHTNING. LARGE HAIL WILL ALSO BE POSSIBLE. THE MOST LIKELY LOCATION FOR SEVERE STORMS WILL BE OVER FAR NORTHWEST GEORGIA
BUT THUNDERSTORMS WILL BE POSSIBLE OVER OTHER PORTIONS OF NORTH AND

WEST GEORGIA THROUGH TONIGHT. THE PRIMARY HAZARD FOR PARTS OF CENTRAL GEORGIA WILL BE DANGEROUS FIRE WEATHER CONDITIONS DUE TO LOW RELATIVE HUMIDITIES THIS AFTERNOON.

DISCUSSION...
CAPES WILL INCREASE TO 2500 TO 3000 OVER FAR NORTHWEST GEORGIA THIS AFTERNOON. THIS WILL ALLOW FOR ISOLATED SEVERE THUNDERSTORMS.
DRY CONDITIONS ARE EXPECTED ACROSS PORTIONS OF CENTRAL GEORGIA THIS AFTERNOON AND RELATIVE HUMIDITY VALUES WILL FALL TO 20 TO 25 PERCENT
FOR SEVERAL HOURS. THE DRY AIR COMBINED WITH LOW FUEL MOISTURE VALUES WILL PRODUCE DANGEROUS FIRE WEATHER CONDITIONS. MOISTURE WILL CONTINUE TO INCREASE THROUGH TONIGHT. THIS WILL CONTINUE THE POTENTIAL FOR AN UNSTABLE AIRMASS OVER NORTH AND WEST GEORGIA.

DAYS TWO THROUGH SEVEN...TUESDAY THROUGH SUNDAY...
THERE IS A CHANCE OF THUNDERSTORMS TUESDAY AND THEN AGAIN FRIDAY THROUGH SUNDAY...WITH A SLIGHT CHANCE OF THUNDERSTORMS WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

SPOTTER INFORMATION STATEMENT...
SPOTTER ACTIVATION IS NOT EXPECTED THROUGH TONIGHT.

1508. Weather Statements being sent to the group

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2012-08-18 14:47:42 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 1508 Message: 1508

Everyone on the TAGSkywarn Group. I received the following request below this message. I want to respond to it here, because it does affect everyone on this list, as well as the TN_ARESDistrict7 list and on occasion the HCACS group. If you are a member of more than one of these groups, you have been seeing multiple copies of each message (one sent to each group).

To answer the question

"Is there a way to opt to receive only those weather alerts which are expected to affect areas of interest to the individual?"

The answer is that this cannot be done and also cover the geographic area that is of interest to the TAGSkywarn and TN_ARESDistrict7 groups. I will try to explain below.

The selection of information that I have been sending is a work in progress. This includes the counties covered as well as the bulletin types being sent.

Over the last few days, the number of Hazardous Weather Outlook statements and have been higher than I would like to see. There are several reasons for this.

First, over the last 2 or 3 days we have under gone changing weather conditions that the National Weather Service felt warranted frequent updates to the HWO statements. During times of changing weather or during hazardous weather events, we will see more frequent bulletins being issued.

Second, the software that I am using to extract the weather information and forward to the groups allows for selecting counties of interest and the type of weather messages. It cannot be configured to select one message type for one county and exclude other message types for that county, It is all message types selected for all counties selected. So in order to get a HWO, tornado watch, severe thunderstorm watch for Dade County, GA for instance, we also get the North Georgia HWO statement since it is issued by the NWS office responsible for Dade County (Peachtree City). The NWS office for Dade County is of course is Peachtree City and their HWO covers all of North Georgia. If the selection was made to cover Jackson and Dekalb Counties Alabama, we would also be seeing a HWO from Huntsville. Currently these two Alabama counties are not included and we are not getting any bulletins issued by Huntsville.

I think that most folks on this group want to see the HWO statements from Morristown, at least no one has asked to have them stopped.

I could easily remove the north Georgia counties from the selected counties and stop the HWO from Peachtree City, but this would also stop any severe storm watch or warning statements for those counties. It has been my experience that often hazardous weather for Chattanooga comes from Dade county, so we probably really want to include them in the county list. These north Georgia county warnings statements are important for the border counties in Tennessee.

Third issue, is that the TAGSkywarn group's focus statement from the Yahoo Group site states

This group is designed for all SkyWarn spotters in TAG country (Tennessee-Alabama-Georgia)... If you are in or around the TN-AL-GA area (TAG country)

In order to truly cover these areas, we need the weather statements from those areas. If the real focus of this group is only Hamilton County, then maybe the group description should be changed. Alabama counties are not covered effectively by the bulletins currently being sent.

The reason for using the software is to improve situational awareness on as timely a basis as possible. Having to manually post information does allow for a more perfect selection of bulletins, but is time consuming and persons are not always available to manually perform this task.

I will continue to try and tweak the selection of counties and bulletins. If the majority of the group does not want the information or the moderator requests it, I will stop the bulletins or try to make specifically requested changes when the software allows that configuration to be made.

Dewayne,

Is there a way to opt to receive only those weather alerts which are expected to affect areas of interest to the individual?

The number of bulletins today has been excessive, unreasonably considering that most of them did not affect Hamilton County at all. I realize that major changes are being made to the SkywarnYahoo Group and it may take time to find the right combination.

What a model shift for Isaac!!

As of the 7pm CDT models for Aug. 23, 2012, there is a dramatic model shift to the west!! If these verify, it could be a good news/bad news situation for Arkansas.

1) The North American (NAM) model takes Isaac up to near Lake Okeechobee, Florida...it is the far right model.

2) The GFDL bring Isaac to south of Tupelo, moving it northwest toward Memphis.

3) The HWRF brings Isaac across New Orleans, heading toward Shreveport, and that'd put Arkansas in the right front quadrant.

4) The GFS and the BAMM now bring the remnants OVER Arkansas!!

Now, one has to consider the variability of weather forecast models. However, the NOAA G-IV Jet, and an Air Force Reserve Hurricane Hunter Aircraft conducted a synoptic surveillance mission around Isaac, and the data went into the new model runs, noted above.

If this shift were to verify, especially with scenarios 3 and 4, Arkansas very well could be facing a dangerous weather situation with the remnants of Isaac...with heavy rain, high winds, and tornadoes, toward the end of next week, Labor Day Weekend.

While Haiti and the Dominican Republic will be hit Friday...Cuba over the weekend, and the Florida Keys on Monday...the central Gulf Coast (i.e. New Orleans) could see a major hurricane by the middle of next week...with the remnants affecting Arkansas just in time for the holiday weekend. The Gulf Of Mexico waters are rather warm, and if conditions are right, Isaac could intensify rapidly, once he enters the Gulf Of Mexico.

Arkansans, those along the Gulf Coast, in the southeast US, and Florida...or those planning to travel to these areas, should keep a very close watch on the latest forecasts, watches, warnings, and advisories on Isaac from the National Hurricane Center.

Thanks, Loyd.

Some folks on this list may be thinking that this is good info, but may not be aware of how hams in our area can assist with storms this far away.

I think we should make this a discussion topic for our local ARES nets. For those who are interested, these links should get us started.

Friends,
We have finally received our date for the contact with the International Space Station. Friday, September 21 at 11:00 is our assigned time. If you plan on attending, please call the LMS main office by Tuesday, September 18, at the first number listed below so that we can save you a seat in the V.I.P. section. Parking will be available in front of the school as available.
We are recommending that our Hams dress comfortably but casual (shirt with a collar with either nice jeans or khakis). Please wear your call sign / identification as I would like our amateur radio operators to be distinct and visible for this historic event.
If you are unable to attend but would like to monitor the contact on the Eastern Seaboard, use the downlink frequency 145.800.

If you have any more questions, either email me, or you can call me directly at school.

...LIGHT SNOW TO CONTINUE THROUGH THE EVENING...WITH BLACK ICE POSSIBLE ON AREA ROADWAYS TONIGHT AS TEMPERATURES DROP BELOW FREEZING...

...LIGHT SNOW TO CONTINUE THROUGH THE EVENING...WITH BLACK ICE POSSIBLE ON AREA ROADWAYS TONIGHT AS TEMPERATURES DROP BELOW FREEZING...

LIGHT SNOW SHOWERS WILL CONTINUE ACROSS THE FORECAST AREA FOR THE REMAINDER OF THE EVENING AS AN UPPER-LEVEL DISTURBANCE DROPS SOUTHEAST FROM MIDDLE TENNESSEE. SOME MINOR ACCUMULATIONS OF ONE QUARTER TO ONE HALF OF AN INCH WILL BE POSSIBLE IN SOME AREAS...PARTICULARLY ALONG THE CUMBERLAND PLATEAU AND THE FOOTHILLS
OF THE SMOKY MOUNTAINS. THESE SNOW SHOWERS ARE EXPECTED TO TAPER OFF ACROSS THE CUMBERLAND PLATEAU...TENNESSEE VALLEY AND ALL BUT THE HIGHER TERRAIN AFTER MIDNIGHT. HOWEVER...AS COLDER AIR FILTERS INTO THE REGION LATER TONIGHT...TEMPERATURES WILL DROP BELOW THE FREEZING MARK. THIS WILL LIKELY LEAD TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF SOME PATCHY BLACK ICE ACROSS AREA ROADWAYS THAT ARE STILL WET FROM ANY LIGHT RAINFALL AND SNOW THAT FELL EARLIER TODAY. THOSE WITH PLANS TO TRAVEL THIS EVENING OR TONIGHT SHOULD EXERCISE CAUTION AND BE AWARE OF THE POTENTIAL FOR SLIPPERY ROADS.

URGENT - WINTER WEATHER MESSAGE
NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE MORRISTOWN TN
706 AM EST FRI JAN 25 2013

...ICE AND SNOW ACCUMULATIONS EXPECTED ACROSS THE TENNESSEE VALLEY AND SOUTHERN APPALACHIAN REGION TODAY...

.A LOW PRESSURE SYSTEM WILL MOVE ACROSS THE TENNESSEE RIVER VALLEY TODAY...BRINGING WARM AIR ALOFT OVER A SUB FREEZING AIR MASS AT THE SURFACE. THIS SCENARIO WILL RESULT IN A WINTRY MIX OF PRECIPITATION...INCLUDING FREEZING RAIN...SLEET...AND SNOW. THIS WINTRY PRECIPITATION SHOULD CHANGE TO MOSTLY RAIN BY THE AFTERNOON...AS TEMPERATURES SLOWLY RISE ABOVE FREEZING IN SOME AREAS.

FURTHER NORTH ACROSS SOUTHWESTERN VIRGINIA AND NORTHEAST TENNESSEE A DEEPER SUB FREEZING AIR MASS WILL BE IN PLACE...WHICH MAY ALLOW THE PRECIPITATION TO START AS SNOW AND SLEET...AND THEN POSSIBLY MIX WITH OR CHANGE TO FREEZING RAIN AND RAIN LATE IN THE AFTERNOON. WIDESPREAD ICE ACCUMULATIONS BETWEEN A TENTH AND A QUARTER OF AN INCH ARE EXPECTED ACROSS MOST OF THE AREA. THE HEAVIEST ICE ACCUMULATIONS ARE NOW LIKELY TO OCCUR OVER THE CENTRAL AND NORTHERN VALLEY COUNTIES OF EAST TENNESSEE...AS WELL AS CLAIBORNE COUNTY AND LEE COUNTY VIRGINIA. ICE ACCUMULATIONS IN THESE AREAS COULD REACH UP TO 1/2 INCH.

ACROSS THE REMAINDER OF SOUTHWESTERN VIRGINIA AND NORTHEAST TENNESSEE...SNOW ACCUMULATIONS OF 1 TO 4 INCHES WILL BE POSSIBLE IN ADDITION TO ICE ACCUMULATIONS OF 1/10 TO 1/4 OF AN INCH.

STAY TUNED FOR LATER FORECASTS AND STATEMENTS.

1791. Volunteer emergency Auxiliary Communications Course/Workshop please forward to ARES/ACS members.

Additional information inside the attachments.

Description:

Volunteer emergency communications operators/groups, using amateur radio, have been providing backup communications to public safety for nearly 100 years. Event planners, public safety officials, and emergency managers at all levels of government utilize their services. Often, amateur radio services have been used reliably when other forms of communications have failed or have been disrupted. Today nearly all the States/ territories have incorporated some level of participation by amateur radio auxiliary communication operators into their SCIPs.

This workshop is designed for those auxiliary emergency communicators and groups who volunteer to provide backup emergency radio communications support to public safety and emergency response professionals and their agencies. Typically this includes amateur radio and Radio Emergency Associated Communications Teams (REACT) communicators but may include other volunteer emergency communicators.

1859. ARES/ACS presentation

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7

From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 1859 Message: 1859

If you receive this notice more than once, please excuse the duplicates.

We will be presenting an ARES/ACS overview and general overview of amateur radio emergency communications for the Hamilton County area on April 2, 2013. This presentation will be during the Chattanooga Amateur Radio Club meeting that has been moved to Tuesday, April 2 at the VFW building on Lee Highway. The meeting starts at 7:00 pm.

I would encourage anyone who is seriously interested in Amateur Radio emergency communications in our area to attend if possible. This is a new venue for the Chattanooga Club to hold meetings and they ask that everyone dress as "business casual".

Please let us know via email or phone at 423-402-0730 if you plan to attend. Late notifications are OK, but we do need to have advance notice.

Thanks,
Dewayne Siddon

2003. US Bicycle Championships and emergency communications "training exercise".

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2013-05-21 23:30:07 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 2003 Message: 2003

This message is going out to the current ARES roster and the current ACS roster as well as the TN_District7 and HCACS yahoo groups. Some of you will no doubt receive this message twice or more. Sorry.

As you probably know by now, since we have announcing this event since before January, that the US Bicycling Time Trials and Road Race is upon us.

Saturday, May 25th, there will be several events that include men's, women's time trials, and a "fun" ride for charity. On Monday May 27th, the full blown men's and women's races will take place. If you have never seen a real profession bike race that operates similar to races like the Tour de France, this is your opportunity.

We still need volunteers for both Saturday and Monday. These events will be going on all day, and we need amateurs who can work at least a few hours of the day. The assignments will be light for this event, since it is heavily supported by other groups.

For this event amateurs will be assigned to "work the crowds" in that you have no specific responsibilities other than to be observant and assist as needed. This is a good opportunity to learn without being under pressure.

I have heard from several, who will be listed below. I need to hear a "yes" or "No" from everyone who is on the Hamilton County ARES and ACS rosters. If you have a current information member form for ARES you are on that roster. If you were on the old ACS roster in 2009, you are currently still there, but not for long if we don't hear from you. Membership in ACS requires participation to remain on the roster.

Please let us know if you can or cannot participate in this event on one or both days. You may reply to this email or call at 423-402-0730. We have to turn in an assignment list by Thursday and need your reply by that time.

Once we know that you will be participating, we will send your assignment, and additional information that you will need such as the communications plan. This event can be worked with a hand held radio and the only other requirement is a Class 2 traffic safety vest, yellow (lime green, etc) in color that must be worn while on assignment.

I have already heard from these individuals who have volunteered. There are a few others who I know to be unable to participate due to personal situations and two or three who have contacted me already. There is no need for these to reply.

If you get this more than once, please excuse. I am working on consolidating the email listings.

Partly as a training tool, and partly since the National Weather Service's Hazardous Weather Outlook calls for possible spotter activation today, I am sending out these forms.

Please let me know if you have questions. We can discuss the forms on Tuesday's Hamilton County's Weather Net.

Thanks,

MARION TN-
1154 PM CDT WED JUL 10 2013

...A FLASH FLOOD WARNING REMAINS IN EFFECT UNTIL 1245 AM CDT FOR MARION COUNTY...

AT 1148 PM CDT...MARION COUNTY LAW ENFORCEMENT CONTINUED TO INDICATE SIGNIFICANT FLOODING IN SOUTH PITTSBURG WITH SEVERAL ROADWAYS UNDER-WATER. NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE DOPPLER RADAR CONTINUED TO INDICATE A LARGE AREA OF MODERATE RAIN ACROSS THE WARNED AREA. ADDITIONAL RAINFALL UP TO ONE INCH IS POSSIBLE.

LOCATIONS IN THE WARNING INCLUDE BUT ARE NOT LIMITED TO MONTEAGLE AND SOUTH PITTSBURG.

PRECAUTIONARY/PREPAREDNESS ACTIONS...

EXCESSIVE RUNOFF FROM HEAVY RAINFALL WILL CAUSE FLOODING OF SMALL CREEKS AND STREAMS...HIGHWAYS AND UNDERPASSES. ADDITIONALLY...COUNTRY ROADS AND FARMLANDS ALONG THE BANKS OF CREEKS...STREAMS AND OTHER LOW LYING AREAS ARE SUBJECT TO FLOODING.

MOST FLOOD DEATHS OCCUR IN AUTOMOBILES. NEVER DRIVE YOUR VEHICLE INTO AREAS WHERE THE WATER COVERS THE ROADWAY. FLOOD WATERS ARE USUALLY DEEPER THAN THEY APPEAR. JUST ONE FOOT OF FLOWING WATER IS POWERFUL ENOUGH TO SWEEP VEHICLES OFF THE ROAD. WHEN ENCOUNTERING FLOODED ROADS MAKE THE SMART CHOICE...TURN AROUND...DONT DROWN.

IMMEDIATELY.

PRECAUTIONARY/PREPAREDNESS ACTIONS...

BE ESPECIALLY CAUTIOUS AT NIGHT WHEN IT IS HARDER TO RECOGNIZE THE

...SCATTERED STORMS PRODUCING HEAVY RAINFALL EXPECTED TODAY...

SLOW MOVING THUNDERSTORMS WILL DEVELOP TODAY ACROSS THE EAST TENNESSEE VALLEY AND THE SOUTHERN APPALACHIANS. THESE STORMS WILL MOVE SLOWLY TO THE NORTHEAST AT LESS THAN 10 MPH. HOURLY RAINFALL RATES WILL RANGE FROM ONE TO TWO INCHES. THE STORMS WILL LIKELY INITIALIZE OVER THE EAST CENTRAL TENNESSEE VALLEY AND THE HIGHER TERRAIN OF WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA...EAST TENNESSEE AND SOUTHWEST VIRGINIA. STORM MOTIONS FAVOR ADDITIONAL DEVELOPMENT ALONG THE I-81 CORRIDOR THIS AFTERNOON.

AREAS THAT RECEIVE RAINFALL MAY EXPERIENCE SOME LOCALIZED FLOODING. MOST AREAS OF NORTHEAST TENNESSEE AND SOUTHWEST VIRGINIA HAVE SATURATED SURFACE CONDITIONS WITH CREEKS AT OR NEAR BANK FULL. THESE AREAS ARE ESPECIALLY VULNERABLE TO FLOODING. THE WET CONDITIONS

ALSO MAY CONTRIBUTE TO LARGE TREES UPROOTING WITH STRONG GUSTY WINDS PRODUCED BY THUNDERSTORMS.

530 PM EDT FRI AUG 9 2013

...A FLASH FLOOD WARNING REMAINS IN EFFECT UNTIL 615 PM EDT FOR RHEA COUNTY...

AT 523 PM EDT...NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE DOPPLER RADAR CONTINUED TO INDICATE A THUNDERSTORM PRODUCING FLASH FLOODING 9 MILES SOUTHWEST OF SPRING CITY. RADAR ESTIMATES THAT 2 TO 3 INCHES OF RAIN HAS FALLEN IN THIS AREA...AND AN ADDITIONAL 1 TO 2 INCHES WILL BE POSSIBLE BEFORE THE STORMS END.

SOME CREEKS THAT MAY FLOOD INCLUDE YOUNGS CREEK...MOCCASIN CREEK...AND MAPLESLUSH BRANCH.

PRECAUTIONARY/PREPAREDNESS ACTIONS...

EXCESSIVE RUNOFF FROM HEAVY RAINFALL WILL CAUSE FLOODING OF SMALL CREEKS AND STREAMS...COUNTRY ROADS...AS WELL AS FARMLAND ALONG THE BANKS OF CREEKS AND STREAMS. OTHER LOW LYING PLACES THAT NORMALLY FLOOD EASILY COULD BECOME DEATH TRAPS. IF YOU COME TO A FLOODED OR CLOSED ROAD...TURN AROUND! DON'T DROWN! THIS IS A LIFE THREATENING SITUATION.

TO REPORT FLOODING...HAVE THE NEAREST LAW ENFORCEMENT AGENCY RELAY YOUR REPORT TO THE NATIONAL WEATHER SERVICE FORECAST OFFICE IN MORRISTOWN.

2280. Upcoming Public Service Opportunity - October 5, 2013

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2013-09-28 21:05:52 UTC
From: Shawn Stoddard
Topic: 2280 Message: 2280

The Sequatchie Valley Century Bike Challenge 2013 is October 5, 2013. Volunteers are needed to work public safety positions. All that is needed is a radio (handheld will work, mobile recommended), safety vest, and desire to help monitor movements of the bikers to ensure a safe event along more than 100 miles of beautiful Tennessee roads on a pretty October Saturday. Details are still being finalized but if you are interested in assisting please respond back. An email will be sent out late this week with details. Previously we have met at Sequatchie County High School, around 8:00 AM CENTRAL TIME ZONE and all completed by mid-afternoon. Operations are typically on two meters but occasionally we also operate on 440. Working this event will count toward service hours for ACS members. Please let me know if you need any additional information.

2355. Fwd: FW: Weather Impacts Briefing - Middle TN

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2013-12-06 01:00:07 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 2355 Message: 2355
Attachments: 1 described; binary payloads are missing from this source WARC

The attached weather briefing was sent out to middle and west Tennessee amateurs today. I am forwarding this on to you, not because our area will be affected, but because we may be needed to assist our neighbors to the west and north.

In the unlikely event that this ice event causes major electrical service interruptions, message relays may be needed via HF and other communications channels. If you will remember the huge ice storm a few years ago that paralyzed nearly the entire state of Kentucky, was not expected to be so bad in the beginning. So, FYI.

Thanks,
Dewayne KE4IDH

ALZ000-ARZ000-KYZ000-LAZ000-MOZ000-MSZ000-TNZ000-211800- PUBLIC SEVERE WEATHER OUTLOOK NWS STORM PREDICTION CENTER NORMAN OK 0237 AM CST SAT DEC 21 2013 ...SEVERE THUNDERSTORMS EXPECTED OVER PARTS OF THE LOWER MISSISSIPPI AND TENNESSEE VALLEYS TODAY THROUGH TONIGHT... The NWS Storm Prediction Center in Norman, Oklahoma is forecasting the development of a few strong tornadoes and swaths of damaging wind over parts of the lower Mississippi and Tennessee Valleys today through tonight. The areas most likely to experience this activity include: Northwest Alabama Central and Eastern Arkansas Western Kentucky Much of Louisiana Far Southeast Missouri Western and Northern Mississippi Western and Middle Tennessee Surrounding the greatest risk area, severe storms are also possible from eastern Texas and the central Gulf Coast region into the Ohio Valley. A potent jet stream disturbance now over west Texas will track northeast into Red River Valley later today, before accelerating northeast into the mid-Mississippi Valley tonight and early Sunday. Associated with this disturbance, an area of low pressure now forming over eastern Texas will become better organized as it moves northeast into southern Arkansas this afternoon, northwest Tennessee this evening, and the lower Ohio Valley early Sunday. Ahead of the low, a broad flow of unseasonably warm and humid air will surge north from the western Gulf of Mexico into the lower Mississippi, the lower Tennessee, and the Ohio Valleys through early Sunday. The increasing moisture and strong wind field that will accompany the jet stream impulse will create an environment favorable for bands of rotating thunderstorms capable of both potentially strong tornadoes and damaging wind over a broad swath extending from eastern Texas and southern Louisiana northeastward into the lower Mississippi and lower Tennessee Valleys. Although the severe weather threat is expected to be greatest this afternoon through early tonight over parts of Louisiana, Arkansas, Mississippi, and Tennessee, a more conditional risk for tornadoes and damaging winds will persist into early Sunday from the central Gulf Coast northeast into the mid-Ohio Valley. State and local emergency managers are monitoring this developing situation. Those in the threatened area are urged to review severe weather safety rules and to listen to radio, television, and NOAA Weather Radio for possible watches, warnings, and statements later today. ..Corfidi.. 12/21/2013

* TIMING...RAIN TONIGHT WILL MIX WITH AND CHANGE OVER TO SNOW OR A SNOW SLEET MIX BY SUNRISE TUESDAY MORNING. AS TEMPERATURES WARM THROUGH THE DAY...PRECIPITATION WILL LIKELY CHANGE BACK OVER TO RAIN BEFORE TRANSITIONING AGAIN BACK TO A MIX OF RAIN SLEET AND SNOW TUESDAY EVENING. BY WEDNESDAY MORNING...EXPECT A MIX OF SLEET AND FREEZING RAIN... FINALLY TRANSITIONING BACK TO SNOW BY THURSDAY MORNING.

* IMPACTS...SNOW WILL ACCUMULATE ON ROADS MAKING FOR HAZARDOUS DRIVING CONDITIONS EARLY TUESDAY. ON WEDNESDAY...ICE WILL BEGIN TO ACCUMULATE ON ROADS MAKING FOR HAZARDOUS OR IMPOSSIBLE DRIVING CONDITIONS. ICE THAT ACCUMULATES ON TREES AND POWERLINES COULD BRING DOWN LARGE TREE LIMBS AND CAUSE POWER OUTAGES.

* WINDS...NORTH 10 TO 15 MPH WITH GUSTS UP TO 20 MPH.

* TEMPERATURES...IN THE LOW TO MID 30S.

* UNCERTAINTY...THERE IS INCREASING CONFIDENCE IN A SIGNIFICANT WINTER STORM BUT EXACT AMOUNTS OF SNOW AND ICE WITHIN THE WARNING AND WATCH AREAS REMAIN HIGHLY UNCERTAIN.

PRECAUTIONARY/PREPAREDNESS ACTIONS...

A WINTER STORM WARNING MEANS SIGNIFICANT AMOUNTS OF SNOW... SLEET...AND ICE ARE EXPECTED OR OCCURRING. THIS WILL MAKE TRAVEL VERY HAZARDOUS OR IMPOSSIBLE. ONLY TRAVEL IN AN EMERGENCY. IF YOU MUST TRAVEL...KEEP AN EXTRA FLASHLIGHT...FOOD... AND WATER IN YOUR VEHICLE IN CASE OF AN EMERGENCY.

A WINTER STORM WATCH MEANS THERE IS A POTENTIAL FOR SIGNIFICANT SNOW...SLEET...OR ICE ACCUMULATIONS THAT MAY IMPACT TRAVEL. CONTINUE TO MONITOR THE LATEST FORECASTS.

To all ARES membership in District 7:

I have been notified by letter received today, that my appointment as District Emergency Coordinator will not be renewed for 2014. I do not yet know who my replacement will be. Until that appointment is made, you may address any ARES concerns to the Tennessee Section Manager, MR. Kieth Miller, N9GDK (n9dgk # arrl.net.

I plan to continue to support ARES in whatever capacity that I can going forward.

I have enjoyed working with everyone over the past several years.

Sincerely,
Dewayne Siddon, KE4IDH

Dewayne,

I would like to say thank you for your service and all that you do and have done.

You leave a big pair shoes to be filled. I just hope that the person that tries has a very large feet.

God bless you.
You do a lot for ARES and ham radio.

Sean, I received a postal service letter yesterday from Keith Miller, N9DGK, the state section manager.

In an earlier phone conversation with Kieth, according to him, there are folks around the area who were dissatisfied with how I handled my work efforts.

2797. Fwd: IRON MAN CHATTANOOGA Sept 28

From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 2797 Message: 2797

Greetings Ham Radio EmComm folks.

We have an excellent opportunity to support our community and help support non-profits who participate in this event. This event is expected to be the largest event of its type that has ever been hosted in the Chattanooga metro area. Amateur radio is tasked with providing communications support for the event that starts about 7:30 am and runs to midnight. In order to cover these 18 hours, a dozen or more positions and make a good impression for amateur radio, we need your help.

For this event we have invited any amateur radio group, or club to participate either as individuals or as groups. This event needs volunteers for field locations, including aid stations and rest stops. We need APRS equipped mobiles and stand alone units for tracking the participants, lead and sweeps. We need individuals who have in interest in HSMM (high speed multimedia), hams who are interested in digital modes can be useful. Slow scan TV photos have a place in this event. The opportunities to practice and train are out there.

The Hamilton County ARES roster has well over 50 members. If all 50 were to volunteer 4 or 6 hours we would have this event covered with a few extra persons. Unfortunately, only a small number of ARES members are actually active in supporting public service events, which serve as our primary training tool for emergencies.

Participation in weekly nets is good, but feet on the ground training exercises are better. Now I hear, this is not an emergency. If it was, I would help. As I mentioned before, this event serves as a training exercise for those emergencies to help everyone "get it right", learn those tasks that you might not know, and meet those people that you will be working with in the emergency. We need you to participate in the public service events, and if you are really serious about responding during actual emergencies, you need to train.

We need to know your capability, what you can bring to the table in the way of technology, and that you wish to participate. We are starting with filling in 6 hour shifts, but we are willing to take shorter volunteer times. The link below can be used to indicate the hours you prefer to work during this event. Be sure to enter your name and email address so we can contact you. Please also reply to this message if you have APRS or other non-voice vhf/uhf equipment that you wish to use for this event.

Thanks for your volunteering and we hope to see you at the event.

2837. Fwd: IRONMAN 70.3 Needs Volunteers for May 17

Yahoo group: TN_ARESDistrict7
Date: 2015-05-06 04:02:37 UTC
From: Dewayne Siddon
Topic: 2837 Message: 2837

Fellow Hams:

The IRONMAN 70.3 is being held in our area on May 17. We, the local amateur community, made such a positive impression with the IRONMAN organizers last year that they are eager to have us join as volunteer again this year. We were able to give them access to information and situational awareness data that they were not expecting to receive. The IRONMAN participants gave Chattanooga the highest rating ever given to any IRONMAN host city.

We need to make this year's 70.3 just as wonderful for them. We are looking for about 25 more amateur operators or GMRS licensed radio operators to help with auxiliary communications this year. We have specific requests for APRS from the IRONMAN race director. As we did last year, we will break the amateur radio volunteers up into three teams based on each leg of the event. We have assignments lasting from 4, 6, 8, or 12 hours and we can be flexible around your schedule, particularly if we get enough volunteers. The event will be coordinated by Hamilton County ACS as it was last summer. Other radio groups are encouraged to make this join either as individuals or club groups.. Inexperienced amateurs are encouraged to join in. We will not place anyone in an assignment that he/she is uncomfortable with.

Please volunteer a few hours and encourage other hams to participate. To volunteer before May 14 when the IRONMAN volunteer registration closes use the link below. This will help ensure you have a T-Shirt of the proper size and put you on the Ham volunteer list. If you know of persons who have volunteered for a non-Ham duty, but have amateur or GMRS radios and would like to do double duty, please encourage them to email me at siddoncd@...
